

Improving its water system, the United States is watching the activities to forestall a possible encroachment upon their viewpoints.

It is thought, however, that before much advance can be made active measures must be taken for the reforestation by purchase or redemption of the existing water bonds of Colorado Springs, as provided for by the charter. It is probable that some action will be taken by the Chamber of Commerce in the future to bring about such an organization as the committee recommends.

GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS OF YEAR RECOUNTED

Committees and Officers Chose to Give Reports at Annual Meeting; Much Progress Made for Greater Pikes Peak Region—Big Attendance—Smoker Follows

The Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce last night brought to a close a year of excellent achievement with a big get-together smoker, which in point of attendance and in enthusiasm set a new mark in the forward movement for a greater Pikes Peak region.

Two hundred and fifty men attended the meeting, and every one left it with the determination to help make 1912 a greater year in the history of the Chamber of Commerce and the community.

It was an embodiment of the new civic spirit and a thorough demonstration of the practical benefits of cooperation as carried out under the consolidated organization.

Complete reports of the work of the various committees and officers were presented. Every committee had an interesting story to tell. Taken as a whole, the reports showed the wide range of subjects over which the Chamber of Commerce has extended its energy, and proved that it has accomplished definite and practical results.

But the tone of the meeting was not retrospective. The spirit that predominated was an eagerness to set about the tasks for 1912 and to demonstrate that the new Chamber of Commerce, representing all sections and all interests, will do even bigger things in 1912, now that the experiments and uncertainties of the initial year of the new association have been met and overcome.

Not the least important feature was the smoker and luncheon following the business meeting. It was in charge of Mark Raftery and S. N. Nye, and that is equivalent to saying that everybody had a good time, with plenty to eat and plenty to smoke, and a great deal of good cheer and good feeling.

The only other business transacted was the adoption of the revised set of by-laws as recommended by the board of directors, and the formal installation of the newly elected directors: W. S. Dunning, Charles T. Wilder, Leonard E. Curtis, Willis R. Armstrong and C. E. Hemenway. The board of directors will meet within a few days to elect officers for the year.

Advertising Committee.

Charles T. Wilder, chairman of the advertising committee, submitted a report for the year showing an extensive publicity campaign. He cited the summer carnival and aviation meet to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the founding of Colorado Springs, the "board" campaign, moving pictures taken at the carnival, the publication of "Daily Doings," the weekly organ of the Chamber of Commerce, the publicity bureau, which continuously sends reading matter and photographs of this city and the entire Pikes Peak region to newspapers, magazines and all sorts of periodicals throughout the country; the recent Dr. Farming congress and the attendant invaluable advertising; the automobile advertising resulting from the log book, logging roads and drivers radiating from Colorado Springs; the map of the entire region and the plan to stimulate interest in the trails and by-paths of the section; cooperation with the railroad as to advertising beneficial both to this region and the railroad themselves; the visit of the railway advertising agents to this city for one week as guests of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce, etc.

The committee recommended the

CENTRAL SYSTEM OF DELIVERY PROPOSED

One Wagon Planned to Cover Certain Local Districts for All Stores

Merchants of Colorado Springs may make up the central delivery system, now in operation, in many eastern cities. The system means that instead of the various business places sending out a delivery wagon over a route already traversed by the wagon of other firms, the delivery work will be centralized and one wagon will deliver groceries, dry goods, hardware and other merchandise for all the houses in a certain district.

The trade and commerce committee of the Chamber of Commerce, L. J. Newsome, chairman, is urging the adoption of the system, according to its report at the annual meeting last night.

On November 14 and December 11 special meetings of the merchants were called by the committee, the annual report says, and the meetings were well attended. The matter of a central delivery system was discussed and a committee was appointed to investigate. Full reports have not been made.

The subcommittee on the central delivery system, appointed by the trade and commerce committee, consists of E. J. Whitney, M. B. Clowdorth and Joseph D. Dorn, chairman. The subcommittee made the following report:

"The committee appointed to look into the matter of a central delivery system for Colorado Springs, respectfully reports that it has given it a good deal of attention and data has been secured from various cities where the system is in force.

"Because of the favorable reports received, we have taken up the question with several different prospective companies which propose to operate in this city."

serious consideration of plans to attract fall and winter tourists to supplement the annual summer season.

Municipal Affairs.

W. H. Spurgeon, head of the committee on municipal affairs, reviewed the neutral report on S. D. Burns, who later was appointed chief of police, and advised that this policy be followed in the future, in other words, that only when facts are proved discreditable to a candidate recommended by the proper commissioner, should the mayor withhold appointment. The question of improving and enlarging the city water system was taken up by the committee and also by two special committees.

L. J. Newsome, chairman of the trade and commerce committee, cited that body's work against an eight-hour law for women; its fight against transient merchants; the establishment of Pikes Peak day; the excursion to Elbert, Calhan, etc., and the discussion of a central merchant delivery.

The committee on climatic conditions, headed by Dr. P. O. Hanford, secured the visit here last summer of delegates to the American Surgical association meeting and the convention of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis; it is trying to get storm signals for the postoffice building and a federal weather bureau here; it took up various matters with the health department of the city and in addition to boosting Colorado Springs as a winter resort, devoted much time to organizations contemplating national homes. The Moose, Foresters, Macabees, Bakers, Muckintosh, Railway Trainmen, national organizations, and the state Odd Fellows have been given careful attention with this end in view.

Agricultural Progress.

The Dry Farming congress and its advertising and educational results; the campaign to turn eastern El Paso county into a dairying country; the campaign to promote the poultry industry in this region; the many agricultural excursions into the country districts last year and the introduction of milk and the Spanish peanut are some of the subjects touched upon by the agricultural committee, John Lennox, chairman.

The report of W. S. Dunning, treasurer, showed the total receipts to be $8,775.37 and the total disbursements, $8,755.40, leaving a balance of $21.47 on deposit in the First National bank. The city of Colorado Springs contributed a large amount, as did El Paso county and various associations.

The receipts and disbursements of the several separate funds are: Tourist travel fund—Receipts, $4,015; disbursements, $3,556.43; "Daily Doings" fund—Receipts, $1,211.80; disbursements, $1,139.40. Pike's Peak region day fund—Receipts, $3,369.76; disbursements, $3,369.76. Special lighting fund—Receipts, $1,199.37; disbursements, $1,188. Carnival fund—Receipts, $2,750; disbursements, nothing. Furnishings fund—Receipts, $820; disbursements, nothing.

As to Legislation.

Dunbar P. Carpenter, chairman of the committee on legislation, reported that the committee had been more active during the last session of the state legislature, recommending some bills for passage and disapproving others. It paid particular attention to the bill providing for the construction of the Moffat tunnel by the state. Later it had approved the arbitration treaties pending in the senate, drawn a bill for submission to congress whereby the Pikes Peak reserve shall be made a natural preserve, has been making efforts to secure a federal weather bureau for this city and is trying to secure the transfer of the Indian service headquarters to Colorado Springs.

The committee on advertising, censorship, a secret committee appointed to consider advertising and similar soliciting propositions which seek the financial and moral support of members of the Chamber of Commerce, reported that 35 propositions have been considered, 13 of which were refused, thereby saving $2,500 to the merchants.

The special committee on street lighting, of which Charles E. Wilder is chairman, reported the work done

INTERNATIONAL DIPLOMACY

LINCOLN BEACHY PLAYS A GHASTLY JOKE
Apparently Falls to Death and Then Reappears Over Rushing Ambulances

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 23.—Lincoln Beachy, whose daring feats have been the feature of the international aviation meet here, played a rather ghastly joke today on a crowd that was still on edge as a result of the tragic fate of young Rutherford Page, yesterday.

After several thrilling "death dips," attempted emulation of which caused the sudden end of Page's career, Beachy rose to an altitude of about 400 feet, from which he made a sheer drop and disappeared in the gully where Arch Hoxsey fell to his death a year ago.

When Beachy did not reappear, more than a moment later, ambulances, loaded with doctors, mechanicians and reporters dashed to the foot of the hill. It was fully three minutes later when Beachy reappeared at the north end of the course, flew past the grandstand and laughingly waved to the crowd.

H. Kearney of St. Louis had two narrow escapes in the five-mile handicap—first when his engine stopped, while "banking," and a moment later, when the "wash" from the propeller of a stationary monoplane almost capsized his machine. On both occasions Kearney righted his plane, but was compelled to leave the course.

Parmalet Wins Contest

The figure eight contest between Phil O. Parmalet and Lincoln Beachy furnished several intense moments. Parmalet won in the record time of 1 minute, 52.5 seconds, for three "eights." Beachy's time was 1 minute, 45 seconds. Parmalet also captured the altitude honors, reaching a height of 7,500 feet. Glenn H. Martin's barograph registered nearly 6,000 feet.

W. B. Cooke of San Francisco remained in the air two hours and 35 minutes and climbed 1,800 feet. Passenger-carrying honors went to Farmington Fish, the box aviator, who was in the air most of the afternoon with a passenger.

The five-mile handicap race was won by Hilary Beachy of St. Louis, in 5:51.1, with Glenn Martin of Los Angeles second and William H. Martin of San Francisco third. Lincoln Beachy, who made the fastest time, 6:33, and Parmalet were disqualified for exceeding their handicap limit.

The five-mile free-for-all was won by Lincoln Beachy in 5:48.

DIAZ DEFEND'R IS TO RULE LOWER CALIFORNIA

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 23.—All doubt as to who will be at the head of the Mexican civil and military government of Lower California was set at rest tonight with the receipt of a message announcing that Gen. Gordillo Escudero and his staff would arrive in San Diego tomorrow morning en route from the City of Mexico to Ensenada, the capital of the peninsula territory.

Escudero fought for the Diaz administration against Madero in the revolution, but was sent to Ensenada to relieve Celso Vega, remaining only a few weeks, when he returned to Mexico City. Col. Fidenio Gonzales has since been acting as governor.

A TELEGRAM URGES ROOSEVELT TO ACT

Gov. Stubbs Tells Ex-President Kansans Are Anxious to Nominate Him

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 23.—Governor Stubbs today made public a telegram which he sent to Col. Theodore Roosevelt urging him to make a statement at once as to whether he would be a candidate for president to permit his name to go before the Republican national convention. The governor has not received any reply from Colonel Roosevelt.

The telegram follows: "The demand for your candidacy is becoming more urgent daily and in Kansas is overwhelming in every part of the state and among all classes of the people. The meetings of committees and the calling of caucuses and primaries to select delegates to congressional and state conventions, which in turn will select delegates to the Republican national convention, are near at hand.

"Your friends throughout the middle west are eagerly waiting to hear you say that you will accept the nomination for president if it comes to you as a genuine demand from the people without your seeking the nomination or taking any action yourself to secure the place. I believe you owe it to the American people at this time to make a public statement concerning this matter and am writing you because of the lateness of the day and on behalf of a vast majority of the Republicans of Kansas and urge you to give us this definite statement by wire.

FOURTH OKLAHOMA DISTRICT REPUBLICANS ARE FOR TAFT

COALBATE, Okla., Jan. 23.—President Taft was endorsed by the fourth congressional district Republican convention here, tonight, after Roosevelt supporters had made a determined effort to stampede the convention.

The delegates selected tonight are the first to be chosen of those who will select the Republican presidential nominee at Chicago in June.

Goldfield Incendiary Turns Off Water Before Firing Three Buildings

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

GOLDFIELD, Colo., Jan. 23.—Three frame buildings at the corner of Portland avenue and Ninth street in this city were totally destroyed, and other buildings on opposite corners were heavily damaged by a fire of incendiary origin at an early hour this morning. The Victor auto fire truck, recently purchased by the city of Victor, undoubtedly saved many buildings, possibly the entire town, from destruction.

Smoke was seen issuing from the Pine & Zahn building, a big two-story frame, at the corner of the two streets, by a minor returning from work, and the volunteer department was summoned. At the station the fire lanterns had been emptied of wicks and oil and the hose had been interfered with. Further, the water main had been turned off. Assistance was requested by Chief Martin Smith from the Victor department by phone, and inside of 4 minutes the Victor apparatus, located 11 1/2 miles distant, was on the scene. The loss is estimated at between $7,500 and $8,500, with insurance of not to exceed $2,000.

The building in which the fire occurred was tenanted on the ground floor, and a contract had been let yesterday for the remodeling of the building for use as a pool room.

DEMANDS PROBE OF ELECTIONS

SWEEPING CHARGES OF CORRUPTION BY TEXAN
By Inference, Sen. Culberson Hits at Republican Leaders and Their Friends

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Demanding an investigation into congressional election expenses in 1904 and 1908, Senator Culberson of Texas in the senate today made sweeping charges of corruption against the Republican committee for those and other years.

Indirectly he charged that foreign ambassadors were bestowed as a reward for campaign contributions and indirectly he charged that ex-President Roosevelt had condoned the use of money in politics.

Mr. Culberson's address was made in anticipation of an unfavorable report by the committee on an contingent expenses on its resolution providing for an investigation. He said that the limitation of the proposed inquiry to 1904 should not be construed as a confession that there had not been improper practices before that period.

Referring especially to the campaign of 1908, Mr. Culberson said that the contributions to the Republican fund had been made by 54,000 persons, with $2,000 as the largest, while those of the Republican fund were made by 12,339 persons, with Charles P. Taft, brother of the Republican presidential candidate, at their head with a donation of $10,000.

Among the contributors mentioned were Ambassadors Reid and Kerens and Minister Lutz-Angerson.

Hits at Cortelyou.

Mr. Culberson referred to the fact that George B. Cortelyou in the 1904 campaign had held the position of chairman of the Republican national committee while he was secretary of commerce and labor, and intimated that Mr. Cortelyou had taken advantage of the secrets of corporations whose affairs might be investigated under the federal law to procure money for the campaign.

"It has been estimated," he said, "that the enormous and unaccountable sum of $11,000,000 was raised and probably expended that year by the committee of which he was chairman. The very size and audacity of this fund, if approximately correct, smacks of extortion, profligacy and corruption. Who contributed? and where did it come from?"

Mr. Culberson said there should be an inquiry to answer these questions. He went into some detail regarding the newspaper charges that the late E. H. Harriman had raised a fund of $500,000 to which he himself had contributed $50,000 in support of the Republican ticket in 1904. He said that within the last few weeks an effort had been made to clear up this charge, and added:

"This attempt to unload upon the dead, the obloquy of this disgraceful transaction may be significant in several ways. It may be the common and prime cause of malfeasance waiting for the absconding or death of witnesses, or it may presage a movement of national consequence and magnitude."

OPIMUM CONVENTION ENDS

THE HAGUE, Jan. 23.—The International Opium convention closed today. The conference has been in session since December 1, and had under consideration measures for checking the use of opium in all its forms, the restriction of poppy production and the prevention of fraud in the drug trade.

Twelve countries were represented, the United States, Great Britain, China, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Persia, Portugal, the Netherlands, Russia and Spain.

BRYAN SIDES WITH WILSON

DISCUSSES GOVERNOR'S BREAK WITH HARVEY

Declares Class Editor Influenced Could Not Grasp His Sincerity

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 23.—William J. Bryan takes the side of Gov. Woodrow Wilson in his break with Colonel Harvey and Henry Watterson and justifies the action of the New Jersey governor in requesting that his name be withdrawn from the columns of Harper's Weekly. In a letter sent from the east, made public here tonight, Mr. Bryan says:

"The recent break between Governor Wilson and Colonel Harvey illustrates the impossibility of cooperation between men who look at public questions from different points of view. Colonel Harvey became a supporter of Mr. Wilson when he was selected as the democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey, and he continued his support when Governor Wilson began to be discussed as a candidate for the presidency.

"Of course, it is absurd for Colonel Harvey to think about his bringing Governor Wilson out. No man or paper could have made Governor Wilson available as a candidate if he had not himself attracted attention. It would have been impossible for Colonel Harvey to have presented a discussion of Governor Wilson's availability.

"But let us assume that Colonel Harvey was doing all he could for his chief, what was the situation?"

Harvey's Sincerity.

"His conspicuous support was not only of no advantage, but it became actually a disadvantage. It did not bring to Governor Wilson the class for which Colonel Harvey speaks, but alienated men just as honest as Colonel Harvey's friends, who could not understand why Colonel Harvey praised Governor Wilson personally without endorsing the things for which Governor Wilson stands. It naturally aroused suspicion as to the sincerity of one or the other, and when Governor Wilson was asked the question, he admitted that he regarded the support of Colonel Harvey as a liability, rather than an asset.

"Should he have pretended that he thought Colonel Harvey was helping him when he was not? And why should Colonel Harvey complain? If he really favors Governor Wilson he must desire to aid him, why should he be offended, then, at Governor Wilson's frankness? Is he more interested in being known as the man who made Governor Wilson famous than in advancing Governor Wilson's cause?"

"Colonel Harvey has shown no signs of conversion. If he continues to feel an exaltation of his lifelong fight against progressive democracy that his first desire will be to bring forth fruits meet for repentance—not to assume leadership.

CHIVINGTON'S DEATH CAUSED BY SUICIDE

Suicide was the cause of the death of Milton M. Chivington, the crippled hot female tender, whose body was found in bed in his room on East Tenth street last week. After the autopsy coroner Jackson gave a dissection of the heart as the cause of death, although unmistakable traces of poison were found in the blood, a suicide verdict was reached. This action was taken by the coroner in order to spare the feelings of Chivington's relatives, who are old and highly respected settlers of this section. Jackson felt free to keep secret the true facts because not the slightest suspicion of murder was connected with the affair.

Ever since Chivington's death, however, rumors have been in persistent circulation that he lost everything he possessed at gambling, and several claim that he told them he gambled away "all he had, and much that he owed."

At the hearing of the gambling charges against E. A. Martin, G. F. Rose and L. M. Roberts in police court yesterday, and which were taken under advisement by Magistrate Streett, City Attorney McKesson, conducting the prosecution, asked Martin if it were not true that Chivington had lost practically all his money in "pitch" games in Martin's restaurant, 1124 East Huerfano street, Chivington, he said, was a regular participant, but Martin swore that they never played for money.

Rose admitted playing "pitch" for pastime, but also disclaimed all knowledge of money changing hands. He was caught on, however, a little later, when he admitted asking E. L. Eoremman one day "how he came out the night before." Eoremman answered that he was "a little behind, but not much." The city attorney asked Rose why he put such a question if no money were involved, and the witness claimed that he meant to ask Eoremman what time he came out of the restaurant.

"He evidently didn't understand your question," he replied, "a little behind," responded McKesson.

"I suppose not," said Rose.

Rose, who holds a commission as merchant policeman, explained his presence in the restaurant by saying that it is on his beat and that he drops in there every night.

It is thought, however, that before much advance can be made active measures must be taken for the retirement by purchase or redemption of the existing water bonds of Colorado Springs, as provided for by the charter. It is probable that some action will be taken by the Chamber of Commerce in the future to bring about such an organization as the committee recommends.

SURPRISE FOR STEEL TRUST PROPERS

Hear That International Harvester Co. Is Boycotting Corporation

ON EVE OF INVESTIGATION
Congress Thought to Show That Machinery Concern Was Getting Rebates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—James A. Farrell, president of the United States steel corporation, surprised the St. Louis steel trust investigation committee today with the statement that the steel corporation and the International Harvester company have had no business dealings with each other for five or six years. The information, coming on the eve of a proposed investigation of the harvester company by congress, in which it was thought to show as an existing condition that the harvester company and the steel corporation had interlocking directors and that the latter gave rebates to the former on steel, was a double surprise.

Representative McGillicuddy of Maine questioned President Farrell about the export business of the steel corporation and to rebates given to certain companies.

"Is it not a fact that the harvester company gets larger rebates than are granted smaller concerns?" Mr. McGillicuddy asked.

Boycott on Steel Corporation.

"We have done no business whatever with the International Harvester company for five or six years," Mr. Farrell replied. "The International Harvester company has had a boycott on this corporation. It all grew out of a controversy with one of our subsidiary companies and the harvester company. It started as a mere quibble between salesmen and resulted in a complete severance of business relations. There is nothing in common between us. We don't do business with them."

Among the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation are Elbert H. Gary, George F. Baker, George W. Perkins and Norman R. Brown, all of whom are directors of the International Harvester company. Mr. Gary is chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation and Mr. Perkins is chairman of the finance committee of the International Harvester company.

Not in International Pact.

MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT ADVISED

Chamber of Commerce Sub-body Recommends Joint Management in P. P. Region

A municipal water district for many cities and towns, and under one general management, to look after the conservation and distribution of the waters of the Pikes Peak water shed, is one of the wisest recommendations of the committee on municipal affairs of the Chamber of Commerce, in its report submitted last night. This is suggested to meet the difficulties constantly arising between the towns which have claims and rights to the waters, including Colorado Springs, Colorado City, Manitou, Green Mountain, Falls and Cascade. For many years these various towns have been constantly alert to the possible encroachments of their neighbors upon their water rights. Even the towns of the Cripple Creek district have long contended that Colorado Springs has appropriated the water which rightfully belongs to them.

To remedy these difficulties and bring about some definite plan of distributing the water, the committee recommends the placing of the Pikes Peak water under one intelligent management. This, they feel, would go far toward the future development of the entire region. The organization of a municipal water district would eliminate the municipal jealousy between the various towns, stop the expense of maintaining separate departments and go far toward better conserving and distributing the water among them. Working together, improvements might be made in the reservoirs and pipe lines, by the several towns, which cannot be undertaken by any one of them. If one of the towns makes a move toward improving its water system, the others are watching the activities to forestall a possible encroachment upon their own rights.

It is thought, however, that before much advance can be made active measures must be taken for the retirement by purchase or redemption of the existing water bonds of Colorado Springs, as provided for by the charter. It is probable that some action will be taken by the Chamber of Commerce in the future to bring about such an organization as the committee recommends.

SOME NATIONAL BANKS IN RATHER SHAKY CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—While the national banks of the country, as a whole, possess an enormous surplus, there are a number of institutions whose surplus is so low that comparatively slight reverses would immediately impair their capacity, according to a statement issued by Comptroller of the Currency Murray, today.

In the future the comptroller announced he would ask all new national banks to pay in a substantial surplus at the time of organization, to bear the organizing and running expenses without encroaching upon their capital.

Of the 7,300 national banks, 1,284 have a surplus averaging only 10 per cent of their capital. In the cases of 76 banks, Mr. Murray said, a loss of $1,000 each would impair their capital. There are 31 banks in which is a loss of $2,000, and 93 in which a loss of $2,500 would wipe out the surplus and impair the capital.

During 1911 the surplus of the national banks, as a whole, was over 65 per cent, nearly double the amount of 10 years ago.

In India, last year, 93,014 cattle were killed by wild animals and 10,909 by snakes.

during the carnival and that done by merchants on South Tejon and Huerfano streets. The lights will be kept in place during the summer season and arrangements are being made for the installation of a permanent lighting system, of cluster or sidelighting, for the downtown district.

The Proposed Auto Road.

Leonard E. Curtis, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the possibility of building a highway and automobile road to the summit of Pike's Peak, reported that the route following the line of the old toll road from a point in Ute pass near Cascade to the summit of the peak is entirely practicable. The committee recommends an early and accurate survey of the road.

Some of the most important and effective publicity work of the year was that done by the committee on tourist travel, which raised a fund of $4,000 to maintain the Denver Information Bureau, publish 50,000 scenic booklets, and carry on the Colorado Springs Information Bureau. The committee promoted the Pike's Peak Region day, which Chairman George S. Elston designated as one of the most significant and important events of the year. The committee has been successful in its effort to unite the various interests of the Pike's Peak region in a common publicity campaign. Its report urges closer cooperation with Canon City.

The committee on streets and highways, F. L. House, chairman, calls in its report of the work done in connection with the letting of the new paving contract. The committee also says among other things, that a small expense by the city and county would give a fine circle drive of great scenic beauty around this section.

The committee on headquarters, Dr. P. O. Hamford, chairman, speaks highly of the work done by James F. Burns in his efforts to provide them with the finest of quarters, the present home of the Chamber of Commerce. The cost of the furnishings at present is $1,591.75.

New Industries.

Edward W. Kent, chairman of the committee on new industries, says that about 300 letters were written in an effort to secure new factories, from most of which no replies were received. To report says: "Steps have been taken to prepare a detailed and statistical compilation of all natural resources to be immediately available as occasion for its use arises." The committee is corresponding with representatives of a number of enterprises especially adapted to local conditions, with fair prospects of bringing them here. It is against free sites and bonus offers.

The committee on conventions and entertainment, L. A. Puffer, chairman, told of the conventions and meetings of an international, national and state character, brought here in 1911, and of the prospects for 1912 and future years. It recommended certain definite and systematic plans for the making of Colorado Springs the ideal convention city of the west.

J. A. Sawyer, of the committee on education, spoke of the committee's recommendation for the employment of a district nurse and for voluntary medical inspection and its activity in the matter of improvement at the Lillier school. The committee recommends that further changes be made in the sanitary conditions of the older school buildings.

Among the things given attention by the committee on transportation, H. H. Seldomridge, chairman, are: The Rock Island tourist service, police protection at the depots, the Huerfano street viaduct crossing, refrigerator service south, collection of freight claims, boarding car trade, Galveston freight rate, union depot, and discontinuance of train service on the C. & S. Bastonville branch.

The committee on membership, D. E. Hemenway, chairman, reported a gain of from 350 to 710 in membership during the year. The committee recommends a campaign to secure a membership of 1,000 at once.

The following resolution, submitted by H. H. Seldomridge, was unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

In Praise of President Giddings.

In reviewing the work accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce during the past year, too much credit cannot be given to the services performed by our retiring president, Mr. E. W. Giddings.

He accepted the office with great reluctance, realizing that its duties would be a severe tax upon his strength and time, however, to make this personal sacrifice in order to assist in the building up of a strong, and unified organization which should minister to the civic, commercial and social well-being of Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region.

His administration has been marked by a fine spirit of harmony and cooperation between all officers and committees.

Whatever of success in growth and efficiency has come to the organization during the past year has been largely due to his efforts and counsel. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, in annual meeting assembled, do hereby tender Mr. E. W. Giddings, our retiring president, our sincere and hearty thanks for the able and efficient service which he has given to our organization.

Following is the report of Secretary Henderson:

Secretary's Report.

Meeting simultaneously on January 12, 1911, the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' association, Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate exchange, adopted the report of the joint committee on consolidation, and agreed to merge into one central association and unite for the advancement of the Pike's Peak region. Steps were immediately taken to create the new organization, and the board of directors was elected at the meetings of January 26 and February 9.

The new Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce was formally launched at the largest gathering of men ever held in this city for a meeting of this nature, when, on February 22, the board of control was elected and the active committees announced.

The spirit that permeated this meeting, and the spirit that has since been responsible for the success of the work undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce, its affiliated bodies and its committees, and which has been crystallized into a record of signal achievements, is the spirit of "All Together for a Greater Pike's Peak Region."

The Chamber of Commerce today, with a membership of 700, is the dynamic force in the community.

Much has been accomplished in the year which remains to be accomplished. The burden of the work this last year has fallen largely upon your board of directors and your active standing and special committees. The reports which they will submit at the meeting this evening will tell you in detail of the wide range of activity and of the great variety of substantial results. It is therefore, unnecessary for the secretary to review in detail the work of your organization.

The business work has been materially increased. Approximately 5,000 letters have been written, a large number more in an effort to stimulate the interest of prospective investors, manufacturers, conventions, home-seekers and others in Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region.

Through the general offices of the Chamber of Commerce, the information bureaus and the activities of the various committees, 173,000 pieces of literature advertising the Pike's Peak region have been distributed, and in addition 20,000 post cards have been circulated.

The board of directors has held 35 meetings, with an average attendance of nine; the various committees have had a total of 100 meetings; the general membership has held 14 meetings; luncheons or other gatherings; the board of control has met four times; and the Chamber of Commerce has participated in six trade or agricultural excursions.

The Chamber of Commerce this year has been along broad lines and has been governed by a policy which looks not only to immediate results, but more to the far-reaching and cumulative effects of the years to come.

Policy of Organization.

It has been the policy of the Chamber of Commerce to advertise to the world the Pike's Peak region and all its resources, to maintain the reputation of this community with the wonderful resources of this locality and to foster a broad general movement of cooperation.

To bring Colorado Springs into closer touch with its neighbors, and to assist them in working out their problems for the development of the country.

To take an active interest in civic affairs, in public health and in educational matters.

To entertain worthily the stranger within our gates.

To bring about closer cooperation with the railroads and others mutually interested in developing this as America's scenic playground.

To protect the various interests of its members who by doing so, it can advance the general welfare.

To develop the varied natural resources of this vicinity by giving its aid to the good roads movement, by endeavoring to interest industrial enterprises in the region, and by giving its attention to the agricultural problems of the vast territory tributary to Colorado Springs, and by studying the transportation needs of this section.

To keep in close touch with commercial organizations throughout the country and to adopt those methods which are practical, effective and progressive.

To protect, conserve and advance the interests of the entire Pike's Peak region in every legitimate manner.

The success of the Chamber of Commerce will be measured by the loyalty of its membership and the public-spirited and unselfish devotion of its directors and committees. The organization which is built on the strongest foundation is that organization whose members belong to and support the Chamber of Commerce not because of desire for direct personal gain or with the expectation that the annual dues will return to them dollar for dollar, but because they are proud of their time, their energy and their thought because they want to give something to the organization, because they want to do something to help the town.

The secretary desires to express at this time his appreciation of the cordial and friendly cooperation of the directors, committee members and members. To them is due the credit for the year's work. They have given unstintingly of their time and attention, often at personal sacrifice.

Respectfully submitted,
A. W. HENDERSON,
Secretary.

Starving Girls Were Not Allowed Even to Smell Cooked Food

SEATTLE, Jan. 23.—The state's second star witness, Miss Esther Cameron, an 18-year-old girl of Portland, Ore., was placed on the stand at Port Orchard today, in the trial of Mrs. Linda Burfield Hazzard, a feasting specialist, accused of having murdered, by starvation, Miss Claire Williamson.

Miss Cameron testified that from May 1 to 15, 1911, she was employed at Mrs. Hazzard's Olla institution to assist the nurse caring for the Williamson sisters, who were undergoing Mrs. Hazzard's starvation treatment. When she arrived at Olla, she said, she found Claire Williamson fearfully emaciated. Her body had the appearance of a skeleton with skin drawn over it, and at the lower part of the spine there was a large ulcer. "Claire had difficulty in speaking," said Miss Cameron, "because of her tense lips. Her body was covered with purple spots."

"You could feel her back when you placed your hand on her abdomen," the witness said.

Victim Weighed Only 50 Pounds.

Miss Cameron said she had assisted to carry Claire upstairs, and estimated her weight, May 1, at 50 pounds. She was so weak that when the nurse moved her she suffered much pain. The witness described the treatment and baths given Claire, which, she said, sometimes were administered by Frank Lillie, a farm hand.

"The baths were given in the kitchen," said Miss Cameron. "Claire was placed in a bathtub, and sometimes she fainted from the oppressive air in the room."

Miss Cameron left Olla the Tuesday before Miss Williamson's death, which occurred Friday morning. After Claire died, Mrs. Hazzard met Miss Cameron and asked her if she wanted to see the body. She said she found the body laid out on an ironing board in the bathroom. The body looked much more emaciated than when she first saw Claire, less than three weeks previous.

Mrs. Hazzard, the witness testified, said not to mention the death of Claire to anyone.

Asked to Smell Food.

On cross-examination, Miss Cameron said both sisters wished for food, but that Mrs. Hazzard declared any solid food would kill them. She said Dorothea, once asked permission to smell the food that was being prepared for the Hazzard family. Mrs. Hazzard forbade her talking to the sisters, and would not permit them to talk to each other.

Miss Margaret Conway, the Williamson family nurse, followed Miss Cameron on the stand.

She denied that Dorothea ever was weak mentally or that there was any insanity in the Williamson family. She came from Australia to Seattle to see her charges, she said, in response to a cablegram from Claire. She said Mrs. Hazzard told her on her arrival that the girls had come to Seattle in bad health.

"Mrs. Hazzard," the witness continued, "described the autopsy, she performed on Claire, and said the only sound organ in her body was her lungs. She asked if I would like to see Claire's body."

She accompanied Mrs. Hazzard to the undertakers.

"Did you see the body?" she replied. "I saw a body," she replied. "Did you recognize 'Claire'?" "Not in the least. It looked like an absolute stranger. At first I thought the embalming process had changed the whole personality, but when I examined the body and hair, I saw that it was entirely different from Claire's, only the forehead bearing any resemblance. I thought the hands looked emaciated, but I did not know what emaciation really was until I saw Dorothea that night."

SPANISH MINISTERIAL CRISIS ENDS ABRUPTLY

MADRID, Jan. 23.—The unexpected and mysterious ministerial crisis appears to have ended as abruptly and inexplicably as it began. Premier Canalejas, on leaving the birthday reception at the palace today, was reported to have told reporters that the king had just questioned him about rumors of his resignation and had agreed to be informed upon the exact situation. The premier answered that he knew nothing about the matter except that his fall had been announced everywhere, and added that, for his part, in view of the persistence of the reports, he was disposed to quit.

King Alfonso, however, said that he would not hear of such a thing. Premier Canalejas told the newspaper men that the reports were fabricated in the jobbies of the chamber, and that parliament would resume its labors normally tomorrow.

The premier's statement has been received with incredulity. The general conviction is that something really happened, but an unfavorable impression was created on public opinion by the unexpected news of the fall of the cabinet, and for some unknown reason, all idea of a ministerial change has been abandoned.

MENERS ARE TRYING TO CUT EXPENSES OF ASSOCIATION

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 23.—Alarmed by the rising cost of conducting the affairs of the United Mine Workers of America, leaders of the organization in convention today pressed to passage a constitutional amendment that after 1912 officers shall be elected every two years instead of every year.

Elections have cost the miners $200,000 a year, according to the announcement of the constitutional committee, which also will recommend that the national conventions meet biennially. The conventions are held at an expense of $7,000 a day and seldom continue for less than three weeks.

DETROIT IS NOT ANXIOUS TO OWN STREET RAILWAY

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 23.—The Thompson-Nally plan for a street railway settlement in Detroit, including an opportunity for municipal ownership of the railways, was defeated decisively at today's election. The plan needed a 60 per cent majority to secure adoption, but tonight with a few precincts missing, it fell 6,000 short of securing 50 per cent of the votes cast. Many women voted but the total cast was not exceptionally heavy.

The plan provided for the extending to and ending of all street railways franchises on December 6, 1924. Fixed rates of fare at eight tickets for 25 cents from 5 a. m. until 8 p. m., six tickets for a quarter at any time with universal transfers.

ROOSEVELT GETS FIRST LOOK AT GRANDDAUGHTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt had his first glimpse today of his first grandchild, Grace Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. The colonel hurried from his editorial office to the Grand Central station to meet the train from Chicago, on which the baby and her parents were finishing their trip from California.

After welcoming the family party the colonel, conducted its members to an uptown hotel. Tomorrow Miss Grace will be taken to Oyster Bay, where she will make an extended visit with her grandparents.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Miss Grace Green Roosevelt, who hails from California and who is six months old, it was learned here last night has never had a picture taken.

During her stay here yesterday her parents said to her record much to the discomfort of many newspaper photographers, who were anxious to let the public see how pretty she is. Her father and mother kept her heavily veiled when photographers were around and positively refused to let any of them see her features.

The reason given for her never having a picture taken is that her father, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was anxious that his father should not know whom she most resembled until he saw the baby herself.

Roosevelt, Jr., remarked to the newspapermen who wanted to see her features "that she looked just like a regular baby."

LOUISIANA DEMOCRATIC MACHINE RUNS SMOOTHLY

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—So-called machine politics won a sweeping victory in the city in today's Democratic primary elections, and means returning from the country indicate that John T. Michell, the administration candidate for governor, has a commanding lead over his two opponents, Judge Luther E. Hall and James B. Aswell.

Michell's campaign leaders claim his nomination by 10,000 majority. Leaders of the opposition asserted that the final figures would show that Michell would have to enter a second primary with Judge Hall.

Scattering returns indicated that Governor Jared V. Sanders, in the race for the nomination for United States senator, would have to run over with Congressman Broussard.

The race between United States Senator Murphy J. Foster, who is opposed for re-nomination by Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell, is very close, and the outcome probably will not be known until tomorrow.

Only 26 Years Old but Has Murdered Three Men

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 23.—Zollie Clement, aged 26, caught after being wounded in a revolver duel with James Martin, Jr., in a local saloon last Saturday night, today confessed the murder of three men.

Clement said he killed James Markham in this city in 1902. A little later he murdered Mounted Patrolman Brown in Oakland. On January 15, in holding up a saloon in Stockton, he killed William H. Newman.

Beginning at the age of 16, Clement said that he had led a life of crime, slaying men outright while attempting robbery.

Lived in Stockton, Cal.

STOCKTON, Cal., Jan. 23.—Zollie Clement, self-confessed murderer of three men, was a highly respected resident of this city, and was a member of the First Baptist church, joining as a result of asserted penitence at a recent revival. He attended church services the night that he killed William H. Newman, January 15.

Clement came here from Sacramento with his bride two and a half years ago. His wife left him after six months.

Shortly after joining the church he made the acquaintance of Miss Emeline Burrells, a young stenographer, and the night he killed Newman he escorted her home from church. It is now known that when he bade her good night he went immediately to the saloon conducted by Newman, entering armed and masked and with the command "hands up." When the alarmed players emerged from a card room Clement shot Newman dead and fled.

Provides Free Passage for American Vessels

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. American ships would also use the Panama canal free of cost, while foreign vessels would pay a charge not exceeding $1.25 a ton, under the terms of a bill introduced today by Senator Bradley of Kentucky. If an American ship, however, is owned by a railroad company, and is operated to offset the expected reduction in cost of freight transportation, it will pay double the foreign rate.

The charge for carrying passengers through the canal would not exceed $1.50 a passenger.

"No matter how rough or unsightly a skin may be," writes Emily De Mar, "than whom among beauty experts there is none with a greater knowledge of cosmetics." The eucalypti cream is delightfully soothing and especially fine as preventing a rough, oily or sallow condition, as well as prevention against winds and cold.

SUGAR REPORT WITHIN WEEK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Chairman Harwick of the congressional committee which for several months has been investigating the so-called sugar trust, hopes to submit a report to the house within a week. The committee will begin consideration of the evidence in executive session tomorrow. Democratic leaders in the house urged Mr. Harwick to report as soon as practicable. Witnesses who had come many miles to testify in rebuttal of antitrust sugar testimony were denied hearing.

Two reports will come from the committee as the Democrats and Republicans disagree over the tariff on sugar and the tariff will be the theme of both reports. Representatives Fordney, Malby and Hines are expected to prepare a minority report, arguing that the removal of the duty on sugar would mean the destruction of the beet sugar industry.

WRECK WAS DUE TO HUMAN FALLIBILITY

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 23.—Human fallibility and not mechanical defects caused the wreck on the Illinois Central railroad and the death of ex-President J. T. Harahan of the road and three other railroad men, two of them railway officials, at Kinmundy, Ill., early on Monday, according to testimony given today to an investigating committee composed of representatives of the railroad and the interstate commerce commission and technical experts.

Further inquiry probably will be made at Chicago tomorrow before the committee reaches a decision as to what man, or men, failed to keep the Panama limited from crashing into the express train to which the private car was attached.

Dean Coss of the University of Illinois, college of engineering; G. L. Pennington of Centralia, a lifelong friend of J. T. Harahan, one of the four victims of the wreck, and representatives of the interstate commerce commission and of the state railroad and warehouse commission, were members of the board of inquiry. Chief Engineer Perry of the Rock Island railroad was also a member because of the death of the three Rock Island attaches in the wreck.

Flagman Says He Was Frightened.
John H. Bralnard, conductor of the express train, to which the wrecked private car was attached, said that he had cautioned his flagman at Effingham to look out for the Panama limited, as that train was following closely.

Bralnard said that his train reached Kinmundy at 12:24 a. m. The Panama limited was due there in 5 minutes. He said that he looked out the door of the baggage car while his engineer was taking water and saw the headlight of the limited approaching. He did not worry, he said, as he had confidence in the flagman. He was astounded to learn later that the flagman had not gone back more than 60 feet before the crash came.

Harry J. Becker, flagman of the express, said:

"I was scared when I looked back and saw the headlight. I did not run back more than 100 feet. I swung my lantern. The limited seemed to be three-quarters of a mile or a mile away."

Becker admitted that Conductor Bralnard had cautioned him about the limited. He felt sure that he had run back more than 60 feet, but said it was difficult to make time over the tracks. He also felt that he could accomplish more by quick signaling than by running back far.

Engineer Blinded by Steam.
When Robert Stuart, engineer of the Panama limited, took the stand his face was a mass of wounds. He said:

"I could not see the tail lights on train No. 25 (the express) because of the steam. I saw only the west light and supposed it was the interlocking signal. It was too late to stop when I saw the danger lamps. I could have seen the fuse for miles. I could have stopped within 200 feet more. I had shut off steam to comply with the slow-up order at Kinmundy."

The testimony of the engineer demolished the inefficient airbrake story.

The bruised engineer said his appliances were perfect.

"It is not a fact that you were running too fast, that you knew the train was there, but were running too fast to stop," asked Superintendent Buttsford. "You saw the order board and other lights, yet you did not see the tail lights of train No. 25. The wind would have blown the steam away."

Engineer Stuart denied this. His voice quavered as he asked permission to make this statement:

"I have never injured anyone in 25 years of railroad work. One of the best friends I ever had died in that wreck—J. T. Harahan. I have told the truth."

CHARM OF "ALMA, WHERE DO YOU LIVE?" IS IN MUSIC

"Alma, Where Do You Live?" the widely heralded farce with music, opera, comic, near-musical comedy, or whatever classification you chose to bestow upon it, came and saw and, judging from the enthusiasm of a small audience, conquered, at the opera house last night.

Was it not for the charming music for "Alma, Where Do You Live?" is nothing more than a selection of catchy airs, plus a dash now and then of comedy that approaches the risqué, the offering would have no particular excuse for having run as the advance notices declared, "an entire season in New York."

There is little plot to the piece and none is needed for the average theatergoer of today goes to see and to hear.

Nannette Plack, as "Alma," shares honors with Charles A. Murray, a boned-out husband, and Aubrey Yates, an unsophisticated country youth on a Tuesday morning when he first meets "Alma," and a pretty young man the day following. The other eight characters were fully up to the demands placed upon them. Originally, the piece was to be a musical comedy, but by Jean Brinkley, the piece has been toned down and the farcical flavor changed to suit American tastes. That the piece pleased, however, was evidenced by the fact that "Alma," Miss Plack's best and catchiest song, was whistled industriously between the acts and at end of the performance.

COMPLETING JURY TO TRY ALLEGED SLAYER OF FAMILY

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 23.—With 11 jurors accepted today, it is expected that evidence in the murder trial of William Lee, accused of killing his father, mother and brother at Booneville, Ind., will be submitted early tomorrow.

Miss Taylor, Lee's sweetheart who he intended to marry on the night following the tragedy, is expected to testify. It is the theory of the prosecution that he killed his parents and brother that he might use their insurance money in fitting up a home after his marriage. The insurance money is being used by Lee in payment of court fees.

ROYAL TRIO VIEW AMERICAN

LIFE FROM VARIOUS ANGLES

See New York From High Tower and Are Greeted by Mob on Street—Meet Society in Evening

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The royal trio of Connaughts—the duke, duchess and Princess Patricia—had their first opportunity today and tonight to make something like an intimate acquaintance with American life. They viewed it in at least three different phases.

From the tower of the highest office building in the world, they surveyed the forest of downtown skyscrapers, and, with the aid of glasses, they viewed the entire metropolis district for 25 miles around. At the foot of the tower, after they had shot down 48 floors in an elevator, they came face to face with their first American "mob." More than 500 persons beset the royal party, which, by mere force, made its way to automobiles. Tonight the royal visitors met nearly 300 members of New York society at a ball in the home of Ambassador Reid.

The impressions New York has made upon the duke have been but meagerly told in the exclamation that the city has changed wonderfully since his visit here as Prince Arthur, in 1888. He has given no interviews, but he has seen much of the New York news-papers, and, especially the photographs.

The party's trip today included a visit to the private art galleries of J. P. Morgan. These were followed by a luncheon at the hotel home, at which Col. Theodore Roosevelt was a guest. The afternoon included trips to Bryant's tomb, Columbia university, and to the new Episcopal cathedral of St. John the Divine.

The formal dinner at the hotel tonight was set for about 60 persons, and the dance followed. The British, unaccustomed with reports that invitations to the function had been sent out with a view to pick the real elite of society and to eliminate all others, declined to give out the list of guests.

CHILD HAD ECZEMA ITCHED TERRIBLY

Small Sores All Over Face, Scratched, Which Made Them Worse, Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Her.

1711 W. 26th St., Chicago, Ill.—"My child suffered greatly with eczema. First small sores began in a few places on her face and all over her face, becoming larger. The child scratched them, which made them worse. They itched terribly and she could not sleep. The itching made her cry often. No medicine did me seem to help any. This lasted three weeks when I sent for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The result was great. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her and we highly recommend them." (Signed) Mrs. Kral, November, 1911.

FACE FREED FROM PIMPLES

Through Cuticura Soap and Ointment, 417 Cherry St., New York, N. Y.—"About two years ago these suddenly appeared on my face and face and pimples and blackheads. The pimples were so bad that I was ashamed to go out. They were sore and caused a lot of pain. I suffered much from them. I tried several different remedies. I received it was hopeless to remove these pimples from my face. About four months ago a friend recommended to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them nightly and almost immediately I found the desired results. First I would wash my face with Cuticura Soap and then use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and leave some on my face for five minutes. Then I would wash my face thoroughly with Cuticura Soap and warm water. After doing this for three weeks I found my face free from pimples and my complexion as good. I always use the Cuticura Soap now." (Signed) Sydney Unger, Nov. 22, 1911.

NATIONAL PACKING CO.

BOUGHT 13 COMPETITORS

Price Was $8,000,000 and Majority of Concerns Were Closed, According to Government's Evidence

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Evidence that the National Packing company was one of the agencies used by the alleged packers combination to destroy competition was given today in the trial of the 10 defendants charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law.

By the books of the National Packing company, the government showed that the corporation acquired by purchase 13 competitors after its organization in March, 1902, and that the price paid for these independent concerns was $8,000,000. A majority of these concerns thereupon were closed.

The packers have contended all along, according to the theory of the government, that the sole object of organizing the National Packing company was to operate the 15 independent packing companies purchased in 1902 to put in the proposed $1,000,000,000 merger which was abandoned because of the inability of its promoters to finance it.

This contention was refuted by the government today by evidence showing that the National Packing company purchased 13 competing companies after its organization.

Among the independent competitors, thus acquired were the Western Packing company and the Colorado Packing and Provision company.

RECEPTION PLANS FOR DUKE OF CONNAUGHT INCOMPLETE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—White house plans for the reception of the duke of Connaught on Thursday were not complete tonight, although President Taft and his cabinet conferred on the matter while Assistant Secretary of State Huntington Wilson and Major Butts the president's military aide, were busy discussing arrangements. At the White house it was said the final arrangements probably would not be completed until Thursday.

It was learned, however, that the duchess and Princess Patricia probably will not come to Washington and that the reception of the duke at the White house will last only a few minutes. The time of his arrival here has not been determined, but from the union station he will be taken to the British embassy and then direct to the White house. After his reception by Mr. Taft, he will be driven back to the embassy where he will be the guest of Ambassador Bryce at dinner. It was said tonight that the duke probably would leave Washington for New York late Thursday night. While he is here a troop of cavalry will form an escort of honor for the visitor.

Meanwhile, social Washington has been buzzing with gossip about the coming visit. There was much discussion today as to whether President Taft and Mrs. Taft would receive the duke with Secretary Knox and Ambassador Bryce only present, or whether members of the cabinet and their wives would be asked to stand in the receiving line. It was intimated that the whole matter was in the hands of Mr. Taft.

Mrs. Bryce so far has not made public the list of guests to the dinner at the embassy. It was announced that invitations were issued a month ago to a dinner there Thursday night and that those originally invited will meet the duke. There were about 30 invitations to this affair. It is probable that a reception for diplomats and government officials will be held at the embassy following the dinner. Invitations will be issued to this reception.

BILL FOR REGULATION OF CORPORATIONS INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Sen. John Sharp Williams today introduced his bill for the regulation of corporations engaged in interstate commerce. It is substantially the same as his measure introduced at the last congress prohibiting interlocking of stocks and providing other terms of regulation.

A sweeping provision against corporations which stifle trade by destructive competition or other methods is included in the bill. Heavy fines and jail sentences running as high as five years are the penalties.

COLORADO CONGRESSMEN FAIL TO INCREASE DUTY

Make Vigorous Effort to Have Proposed Tariff on Lead and Zinc Made Higher

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—After an ineffectual effort on the part of some members to place steel rails and pig iron on the free list and to increase the proposed duties on lead and zinc, Democrats of the house in caucus today ratified the iron and steel tariff schedule drafted by their colleagues on the ways and means committee, adding an amendment to include baling wire in the free list.

The threatened fight between Majority Leader Underwood, Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriation committee, and other leaders who approve of the ratification of the report of the committee on public buildings and grounds for a $16,000,000 public building bill, was postponed until next Monday night, when a special caucus will be held.

The iron and steel schedule was explained by Representative Underwood in an extended speech. As soon as he had concluded, Representative Finley of South Carolina moved an amendment to the proposed tariff of 10 per cent ad valorem on steel rails, placing it on the free list with iron ore.

Fear Action Be Misconstrued.

There was instant opposition to the amendment though it was apparent that many members favored placing steel rails on the free list. It was argued that pending the investigation of the steel trust by a house committee, such action might be misconstrued. The amendment was voted down without a roll call.

Pig iron, made dutiable in the bill at 15 per cent ad valorem, was the next item of controversy.

Representative William Smith of Texas offered an amendment placing pig iron on the free list. A number of his colleagues supported him and on the motion he asked for a roll call. Under the new caucus rules it required one-fifth of those in attendance to sanction a yeas and nays vote and in this instance it failed. The amendment was lost.

Representatives Rucker, Taylor and Martin, all of Colorado, made a vigorous effort to have the proposed duties on lead and zinc increased. Each said he was pledged to his constituents for higher tariffs than those proposed on these items. Their efforts were unavailing. The proposed duty on lead in the bill is 25 per cent; zinc in blocks 15 per cent, and zinc ore is placed on the free list. Representatives Rucker and Taylor asked to be absolved from their caucus pledge.

The bill making general reductions of from 30 to 50 per cent from the Payne-Aldrich bill will be introduced in the house tomorrow and brought up for discussion within a few days.

Insurgency Arises at Meeting M. W. A. Heads Over Insurance Rates

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Insurgency arose in the adjourned meeting of the head camp of the Modern Woodmen of America here today when the fight to prevent adoption of the head officers' plan of increasing insurance assessments began.

The head camp will be in session all week, it being the intention of the officers to withhold a vote on the proposition until a thorough canvass of the attitude of the delegates has been made.

The plan of increase is based on the recommendation of state insurance commissioners, who a year ago prepared a simple and uniform law for governing fraternal insurance orders. Sixteen fraternal orders have adopted the plan, by extensive growth. The Woodmen officials say, the low rate on insurance, heretofore in effect has been sufficient.

W. H. Hart of Waukon, Ia., and State Senator C. G. Saunders of Council Bluffs, Ia., speaking for the increase, today said that the policy was mandatory that the organization might continue to exist and pay in full policies maturing in future years.

Head officers submitted figures calculated to show that by January 1, 1914, the lodge would have attainable assets of $300,000,000, less than enough to meet the face value of policies. Their plan would be to increase rates materially, but to scale increases for members over 25 years old so that the cost of their insurance would not be prohibitive. A maximum assessment limit of $3 a $1,000 policy for these men was suggested.

H. S. Green of Bloomfield, Mo., Sherman Car. of East St. Louis, Ill., and Charles N. Edge of Oberlin, Kan., opposing the increase predicted that it would mean a cut of 50 per cent in membership and an assessment rate higher than old line companies. They contended the present system was sufficient. James F. Eagan, an official of the head camp, said the lodge now was prepared to pay only $350 on each $1,000 policy.

DEMOCRATIC ECONOMY PROVES A BOOMERANG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Efforts of the Democratic house leaders to economize by the cutting the price paid for expert stenographic work in committees from 25 to 15 cents a folio have resulted in consternation in their own ranks, for a general condition of chaos has resulted therefrom.

The situation has become such that the Democratic chairman of several committees are much agitated. Inexperienced stenographers who took the places of the regular men who refused to work at the reduced rates are weeks behind in the transcripts of testimony. In some instances the stenographers have had trouble with their notes and records sent to chairmen have had to be revised thoroughly.

GLOOMY PROPHECY FOR ENGLISH AND AMERICANS

Lecturer on Military Strategy Tells London Audience Pacific Conflicts Would Be Disastrous

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A gloomy prophecy as to the probability of conflicts in the Pacific Ocean was made today by the T. W. M. Maquie, the lecturer on military strategy, at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute.

Mr. Maquie described the Pacific ocean as the strategic center of mankind, and warned both the United States and Great Britain, "Nothing could give them security but a race of military men," as with nations like Germany and Japan it was a word and a blow.

The yellow races, he said, were going to demand equality of treatment. Japan was at present Great Britain's ally, but that would only last as long as the British Alliance was worth having.

Great Britain's territories in the Pacific ocean, he considered, were by no means safe, and the Japanese might attack and defeat the Americans any day.

Asked by Mr. Beall if officials of the steel corporation when they decided to change prices were not bound to tell their competitors, President Farrell answered in the negative.

Representative Gardner sought an explanation of the fact that the price of standard steel rails had remained at $28 a ton for 10 years, when the prices of all other steel products had fluctuated. Mr. Farrell explained that the $28 figure for years had been regarded as fair, and because the cost of manufacture of rails had increased steadily no one would lower the price.

"But why don't you raise the price?" Mr. Gardner asked.

"I believe that the price will be raised," Mr. Farrell responded. "I think it will not remain at $28 a ton much longer."

SOME NATIONAL BANKS IN RATHER SHAKY CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—While the national banks of the country, as a whole, possess an enormous surplus, there are a number of institutions whose surplus is so low that comparatively slight reverses would immediately impair their capacity, according to a statement issued by Comptroller of the Currency Murray, today.

In the future the comptroller announced he would ask all new national banks to pay in a substantial surplus at the time of organization, to bear the organizing and running expenses without encroaching upon their capital.

Of the 7,300 national banks, 1,284 have a surplus averaging only 10 per cent of their capital. In the ranks of 16 banks, Mr. Murray said, a loss of $1,000 each would impair their capital. There are 81 banks in which a loss of $2,000, and 33 in which a loss of $3,000 would wipe out the surplus and profits and impair the capital.

During 1911 the surplus of the national banks, as a whole, was over 50 per cent, nearly double the amount of 20 years ago.

In India, last year, 93,015 cattle were killed by wild animals and 10,909 by snakes.

client service which he has given to our organization.

Following is the report of Secretary Henderson.

Secretary's Report.

Meeting simultaneously on January 12, 1911, the three former civic bodies, the Merchants Association, Chamber of Commerce and Ideal Estate Exchange, adopted the report of the joint committee on consolidation, and agreed to merge into one association, the Pikes Peak Region. Steps were immediately taken to create the new organization, and the board of directors was elected at the meetings of January 26 and February 9.

The new Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce was formally launched at the largest gathering of men ever held in this city for a meeting of this nature, when, on February 22, the board of control was elected and the active committee organized.

"The spirit that permeated this meeting, and the spirit that has since been responsible for the success of the work undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce, its affiliated bodies and its committees, and which has been crystallized into a record of signal achievements, is the spirit of 'All Together for a Greater Pikes Peak Region.'"

The Chamber of Commerce today, with a membership of 700, is the dynamic force in the community.

Much has been accomplished in the year. Much remains to be accomplished. The burden of the work this last year has fallen largely upon your board of directors and your active standing and special committees. The reports which these committees at this meeting will tell you in detail of the wide range of activity and of the great variety of substantial results. It is therefore, unnecessary for the secretary to review in detail the work of your organization.

The routine work has been materially increased. Approximately 5,000 letters have been written, a large number more in an effort to stimulate the interest of prospective investors, manufacturers, conventions, home-savers and others in Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region.

Through the general offices of the Chamber of Commerce, the information bureau and the activities of the various committees, 173,000 pieces of literature advertising the Pikes Peak region have been distributed, and in addition 120,000 post cards have been circulated.

The board of directors has held 35 meetings, with an average attendance of nine, the various committees have held 100 meetings, the Chamber of Commerce membership had held 14 meetings, luncheons or other gatherings; the board of control has met four times; and the Chamber of Commerce has participated in six trade or agricultural excursions.

The work of the Chamber of Commerce this year has been along broad lines and has been governed by a policy which looks, not only to immediate results, but more to the far-reaching and cumulative effects of the years to come.

Policy of Organization.

It has been the policy of the Chamber of Commerce to advertise to the world the Pikes Peak region, and at the same time to develop the potentialities of this community with the wonderful resources of this locality and to foster a broad general movement of cooperation.

To bring Colorado Springs into closer touch with its neighbors, and to assist them in working out their problems for the development of the country.

To take an active interest in civic affairs, in public health and in educational matters.

To entertain worthy strangers without cost.

To bring about closer cooperation with the railroads and others mutually interested in developing this as America's scenic playground.

To protect the various interests of its members where by doing so it can advance the general welfare.

To develop the varied natural resources of this vicinity by giving it and to the good roads movement, by endeavoring to interest industrial enterprises suitable to this locality, by giving its attention to the agricultural problems of the vast territory tributary to Colorado Springs, and by studying the transportation needs of this section.

To keep in close touch with commercial organizations throughout the country and to adopt those methods which are practical, effective and progressive.

To protect, conserve and advance the interests of the entire Pikes Peak region in every legitimate manner.

The success of the Chamber of Commerce will be measured by the loyalty of its membership and the public-spirited and unselfish devotion of its directors and committeemen. The organization which is built on the strongest foundation is that organization whose members are willing to support the Chamber of Commerce because of desire for direct personal gain or with the expectation that the annual dues will return to them dollar for dollar, but who give of their money to the end of the emergency and they thought because they want to GIVE something to the organization, because they want to do something to help the town.

The secretary desires to express at this time his appreciation of the cordial and friendly cooperation of the directors, committee members and members. To them is due the credit for the year's work. They have given unstintingly of their time and attention often at a personal sacrifice.

Starving Girls Were Not Allowed Even to Smell Cooked Food

SEATTLE, Jan. 23.—The state's second star witness, Miss Esther Cameron, an 18-year-old girl of Portland, Ore., was placed on the stand at Port Orchard today, in the trial of Mrs. Linda Hurdell Hazard, a fasting specialist, accused of having murdered by starvation Miss Claire Williamson.

Miss Cameron testified that from May 1 to 15, 1911, she was employed at Mrs. Hazard's orphan institution to assist the nurse caring for the Williamson sisters, who were undergoing Mrs. Hazard's starvation treatment. When she arrived at Olalla, she said she found Claire Williamson fearfully emaciated. Her body had the appearance of a skeleton with skin drawn over it, and at the lower part of the spine there was a large ulcer. Claire had difficulty in speaking, said Miss Cameron, "because of her loose lips. Her body was covered with purple spots."

You could feel her back when you placed your hand on her abdomen, the witness said.

Victim Weighed Only 50 Pounds.

Miss Cameron said she had assisted to carry Claire upstairs, and estimated her weight, May 1, at 50 pounds. She was so weak that when the nurse moved her she suffered much pain. The witness described the treatment and baths given Claire, which she said, sometimes were administered by Frank Lolle, a farm hand.

The baths were given in the kitchen, said Miss Cameron. Claire was placed in a washbowl, and sometimes she fainted from the oppressive air in the room.

Miss Cameron left Olalla the Tuesday before Miss Williamson's death, which occurred Friday morning. After Claire died Mrs. Hazard met Miss Cameron and asked her if she wanted to see the body. She said she found the body laid out on an ironing board in the bathroom. The body looked much more emaciated than when she first saw Claire less than three weeks previous.

Mrs. Hazard, the witness testified, said not to mention the death of Claire to anyone.

Asked to Smell Food.

On cross-examination Miss Cameron said both sisters wished for food, but that Mrs. Hazard declared any solid food would kill them. She said Dorothy once asked permission to smell the food that was being prepared for the Hazard family. Mrs. Hazard forbade her talking to the sisters, and would not permit them to talk to each other.

Miss Cameron said she saw Mrs. Hazard on the stand.

She denied that Dorothy ever was weak mentally or that there was any unsanity in the Williamson family. She said she saw Mrs. Hazard on the stand.

DETROIT IS NOT ANXIOUS TO OWN STREET RAILWAY

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 23.—The Thomson Nally plan for a street railway settlement in Detroit including an opportunity for municipal ownership of the railways was debated decisively at today's election. To plan needed a 60 per cent majority to secure adoption, but fought with a few private interests it fell 6000 short of securing 60 per cent of the votes cast. Many women voted but the total cast was not exceptionally high.

The plan provided for the extending to and ending of all street railway franchises on December 4, 1914, fixed rates of fare at eight cents for 25 cents from 5 a. m. until 8 p. m. and six tickets for a quarter at any time with universal transfers.

Only 26 Years Old but Has Murdered Three Men

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 23.—Zollie Clement, aged 26, caught after being wounded in a revolver duel with James Martin Jr., in a local saloon last Saturday night today confessed the murder of three men.

Clement said he killed James Markham in this city in 1902. A little later he murdered Mounted Patrolman Brown in Oakland. On January 15, in holding up a saloon in Stockton, he killed William H. Newman.

Beginning at the age of 16 Clement said that he had led a life of crime, playing men out while attempting robbery.

Lived in Stockton, Cal.

STOCKTON, Cal., Jan. 23.—Zollie Clement, self-confessed murderer of three men, was a highly respected resident of this city and was a member of the First Baptist church, joining as a result of assured penitence at a recent revival. He attended church services the night that he killed William H. Newman, January 15.

Clement came here from Sacramento with his bride two and a half years ago. His wife left him after six months.

Shortly after joining the church he made the acquaintance of Miss Emmeline Riebel, a young stenographer, and the night he killed Newman he escorted her home from church. It is now known that when he had her good night he went immediately to the saloon conducted by Newman, entering armed and masked and with the command "hands up." When the alarmed players emerged from a card-room Clement shot Newman dead and escaped.

Provides Free Passage for American Vessels

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—American ships would use the Panama canal free of cost, while foreign vessels would pay a charge not exceeding $125 a ton, under the terms of a bill introduced today by Senator Bradley of Kentucky. If an American ship, however, is owned by a railroad company, and is operated to offset the expected reduction in cost of freight transportation, it will pay double the foreign rate.

The charge for carrying passengers through the canal would not exceed $1.50 a passenger.

LOUISIANA DEMOCRATIC MACHINE RUNS SMOOTHLY

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—So-called machine politics won a sweeping victory in the city in today's Democratic primary elections and meager returns from the country indicate that John T. Mitchell, the administration candidate for governor, has a commanding lead over his two opponents, Judge Luther E. Hall and James R. Aswell.

Mitchell's campaign leaders claim his nomination by 10,000 majority. Leaders of the opposition asserted that the final figures would show that Mitchell would have to enter a second primary with Judge Hall.

Scattering returns indicated that Governor Jared A. Sanders in the race for the nomination for United States senator would have to run over with Congressman Broussard.

The race between United States Senator Murphy J. Foster who is opposed for renomination by Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell, is very close and the outcome probably will not be known until tomorrow.

CHILD DIVORCES

YESTERDAY a girl of fifteen years appeared in the District Court to ask a divorce from her husband of nineteen. The couple were married February 7, 1910, and it is recorded that at that time the mother of the bride appeared in person to secure the marriage license. Now a divorce is sought by the wife on the ground that her husband has beat her and forced her to work in a laundry to support him, and that he deserted her willfully less than a year after the marriage.

This girl is said to be the youngest who ever applied for a divorce in the El Paso County Court. But there have been others who are very little older. It is only a matter of a few weeks since a boy of seventeen was given a divorce from his wife, aged twenty. This couple were married only last June. It appears, too, that the palm is not to be awarded to El Paso County without a contest. Littleton, which is in Arapahoe County, yesterday granted a license for the marriage of a twelve-year-old girl to a sixteen-year-old boy. We await the announcement of their divorce proceedings with the usual degree of interest.

It would be difficult to decide whether the United States is more disgraced by the collapse of its system of criminal justice than by its lax system of divorce laws. Considering only the latter case, it is plain that we have reverted almost as near to barbarism as we can get without reaching the absolute stage. The fault is more with our marriage laws than with those governing divorces. We permit the marriage of children, and our laws do not even make allowance for the stupidity of the parent. For instance, when the mother of the fifteen-year-old Milner girl was questioned in court yesterday as to why she permitted the marriage of her daughter, she said, "They threatened to get married whether we consented or not, and so we finally gave in." There ought to be a state institution for the care of this variety of imbecile, but unfortunately there is not.

ONLY A STEP IN ADVANCE OF CAVE MAN.

What is to be done so long as the laws make possible marriages of this sort? Obviously, nothing. When children in their teens can obtain marriage licenses with the consent of parents equipped with mayonnaise-dressing brains no other result can be expected than the misery and dissatisfaction which finds expression in the divorce court. A short time ago figures were published which showed that in the year 1911 the ratio of marriage licenses to divorces in El Paso County was about three and a half to one. This condition probably is not more disgraceful than the condition in most other cities throughout the land. Of course it is a frank confession that we Americans, with our boasted superiority over other peoples, have failed ingloriously to do what every other civilized race on earth has done. That is, we have failed to enact, and properly administer, satisfactory laws covering the marriage relation. In short, we have got pretty well back to the primitive state, in which every man seized whatever woman attracted him and made her his wife, and then, when it suited him to do so, cast her off—and no law could intervene.

This is a glorious country. All of us do exactly as we please, and there is nobody big enough to stand in our way. There is only one thing necessary to make us even bigger and better than we are, and that is the abrogation of all laws and reversion to the even more absolute personal liberty of the cave dweller.

HITCHCOCK AND TAFT

THERE are a good many people in this country who would like to know just where to place Postmaster-General Hitchcock. Four years ago, after Mr. Arthur I. Vorys, of Ohio, had made a mess of the Taft campaign for the presidential nomination, Mr. Hitchcock was put in charge. The public was informed then that he was a clever politician capable not only of lining up the southern postmasters but of whipping the northern and western delegations into shape. At the Chicago Convention he applied those summary but effective methods designated as "the steam roller," a phrase which immediately passed into current usage. Mr. Hitchcock may not have been the first to use steam-roller methods, but anyway his use of these methods made him famous and established him as a past master in the art of political manipulation.

He was rewarded with a Cabinet job and the American public howled. Mr. Taft was accused of giving one of the most important appointments to a mere political manipulator. But as time passed Mr. Hitchcock revealed another side of his nature. He has been at the head of the Postoffice Department nearly three years, and his record in that time seems to reveal a dual personality. On the one hand there is the astute politician, bent on making the most of his opportunities to build up a dominant political machine. On the other hand, Mr. Hitchcock appears to be possessed of a strong desire to secure the largest possible degree of efficiency in his department. His official reports show a constant striving to eliminate waste and thereby to attain the end sought unsuccessfully by all of his predecessors—that is, the wiping out of the annual deficit. Last year he accomplished it for the first time, we believe, in the history of the postal service. The country has become accustomed to a report showing a deficit of twelve or fifteen millions in the Postoffice Department, but in contrast to this Mr. Hitchcock is able to show an actual balance of a few thousands.

ONE GUESS AS GOOD AS ANOTHER.

Still, the country could not get out of the habit of regarding him merely as a politician. Last week he published a report, with or without the consent of the President, advocating the purchase of the telegraph lines and their operation as an adjunct of the Postoffice Department, as is done in Europe. Immediately everybody, whether they agreed or disagreed with his views, said, "Ha ha! Hitchcock is getting ready to ditch Taft." In a few days he will emerge as manager of the Roosevelt campaign. His recommendation of government ownership of the telegraph lines is merely a clever move to put Taft in the hole.

But now comes Mr. Hitchcock with a definite statement, avowing his allegiance to the President. He says that he is as strong a Taft man as can be, and that it is an insult for anyone to think that he has been disloyal to the President. Simultaneously comes a report that Mr. Taft continues to repose implicit confidence in the fidelity of his Postmaster-General and resents any intimation as to the disloyalty of that official.

We give it up. Mr. Taft's confidence is admirable, but his judgment has repeatedly been shown to be defective. His postmaster-general may be a faithful servant, but let us wait and see.

THE DAILY CHIT-CHAT—BY RUTH CAMERON

The other day I heard a young friend of mine using some rather coarse slang. This young person had previously confided to me her intention of becoming all slang, and trying to speak better English, in emulation of a friend whom she greatly admired.

Naturally, I reminded her of the confidence, and asked her what Barbara, the much admired one, would think.

Well, I guess she wouldn't mind much," was the triumphant response. For I heard her say that very thing herself. I know her better now, and I find she uses slang just like other people, so I've quit trying to be so particular. What's good enough for her, is good enough for me.

"How did you feel the first time you heard me use slang?" I inquired curiously.

The young person was thoughtful for a moment. "Well," she said finally, "at first I felt awfully voted and disappointed. And then afterwards I felt kind of relieved, and glad to find she was human, and I didn't have to be perfect to live up to her."

I wonder if there is any one of us who hasn't been through an experience like that when someone whom we greatly admired proved himself or herself "just like other folks."

of the let-down we may be giving to someone who idealizes us.

And as for the popular folks, those who are always the victims and admiration of neighboring eyes, those whom innumerable humble folks idealize—truly the thought of their responsibility is almost terrible.

Now, in the name of common sense, can anyone wish to be or try to be popular? I can hardly understand it—can you? Despite the fact that being only human, I do.

Sunflower Philosophy

Few men are fond of Major Gall. He is the man who knows it all. His voice is blustering and loud, and when he gets into a crowd he deftly wields his tireless jaw, and what he says is final law. If you should say the weather is warm, the major then will rant and storm, and say it's cold as all get out, and put your arguments to rout. If you concerning books discourse, the major rises, fierce and hoarse, and pushes language through his face, and shows that you are off your base. If you refer to works of art, he then upsets your apple cart, and proves your criticisms weak—you have no right to think or speak. No odds what subject may come up—a Grecian urn or setter pup, a Roman bronze or Plutarch's "Lives," the groundhog or a case of hives, a sermon or a quilling bee, the major, with his snickensnee, which is another name for tongue, hews down opponents old and young. And so men shy at Major Gall, that grand old sport who knows it all.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE MANITOU SQUABBLE.

To the Editor of The Gazette: In your paper yesterday there appears under the caption, "Manitou Votes for $25,000 Bond Issue," etc. "Bond issues carried, notwithstanding it was bitterly opposed by several citizens of Manitou under the leadership of the Rev. Robert P. Carson, pastor of the Episcopal church." First, to clear anyone's mind as to the church, I will say I am pastor of the Congregational church. The Episcopal church ought not to have been drawn into this, and would not have been only that the party giving the above information likely does not go to church often enough to know one church from another.

I want to say in the first place that this whole attack is a malicious lie, premeditated and given out for the sole purpose of injuring me in the minds of the citizens of Manitou. No man ever heard me lift my voice against a school gymnasium and auditorium. At a public meeting held at the school house in Manitou Springs, December 27, the bond issue was discussed, sentiment seemed to favor a building costing from $500 to $500. At another mass meeting held at the school house Saturday, January 13, Captain Rogers asked why the town did not erect the auditorium, to which Prof. H. A. Keeley replied because they had no legal right to do so, to which Mr. Rogers replied "neither has the school district." I then raised the question as to the legality of such a building. Mr. Bruce, replying to this, said they had obtained an opinion from an attorney, that they were acting upon this. I asked that an opinion be obtained through the superintendent of public instruction at Denver from the attorney general, which would be final in the matter, till someone carried it to the appellate court, and his opinion be sustained or reversed. To which Mr. Sawin replied that they considered their attorney's opinion as good or better than the attorney general.

I again suggested that counter opinion could be had from some other attorney and would then have to judge between the ability and integrity of the attorneys. The accumulation of knowledge of the building that everyone had in mind was larger than would ever be needed by the public school or the residents of the town themselves. This led me still to question the legality of such a building. The school board and Mr. H. A. Keeley issued school letter No. 3, January 1912, in which they say they will welcome suggestions from anyone, should the bonds be authorized, and call attention to the plans of one citizen on display in Goerke's store window. On examining this I found its estimated seating capacity was from 2,800 to 3,000. Every letter and every discussion, public at least, was favoring an auditorium of similar size. Prof. Keeley told me Saturday evening that he had tried to get an opinion from the attorney general as to the limit of size they might erect, and he would not give it, but had finally said they might build one maybe seating as many as 1,000 people. He brought me their legal opinion Sunday morning by special delivery. I received from Denver an opinion through the superintendent of public instruction's office from the attorney general.

Sunday morning I announced from my pulpit that since so many of the voters appeared to be at sea as to how to vote and we had three written opinions on the matter, that as it was so near the time for voting, I would be glad to read all the opinions on both sides. Prof. Keeley had called me up from Colorado Springs Saturday afternoon and asked me if I would read this opinion on Sunday evening to which I replied I would. He came with it Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. At the close of the evening service I stated that the legality of the issue had been raised and discussed, and we all might have a chance to know how to vote intelligently, we would read opinions on both sides. I read Mr. Ellison's opinion against the bond issue first, stating this opinion had been given in the light of the discussion of as to the size and purpose of the building. I then read the opinion of the school board as given by W. P. Kinnip, stating that it had been given before any definite plans had been discussed and in the light of a school building for school purposes only. I fully suggested that if I were an attorney before the court I would be glad to have their opinion in my hands, as it was stronger against the proposition than either of the others, and I would like to exchange with them. I then read the attorney general's and added that I wanted to be fair to everyone and the only comment I would make was that in the light of the three opinions read and the knowledge of the proposed auditorium we all had in mind from every discussion concerning the same, that I was of the opinion that the greatest question before us was not whether we needed the building nor yet whether we wanted it, but whether we had a right to take school money to erect such a building. And to use a common expression, it was up to them to decide in their own minds that question, urging that no one snirk from his duty but that everyone go and vote for or against, according to their own judgment. Mr. Austin of the Cave of the Winds, who has been active all the way through, said nothing could have been more fair. Mr. Bruce, a member of the school board, was present and said that I was absolutely fair.

As to boosting for it, I will say no man is more in favor of such things, if legal. No man more against it if not legal. I was sick weak before last and got out of the house from Monday till Saturday noon. Last week I was in Denver for the day till Thursday night at 9 o'clock. As to my opinion Sunday night I did not even state my own private opinion. As to the dozen prominent citizens who protested, when you come to the actual number, there were four—Dr. R. Creighton, R. E. L. Giles, Capt. Goerke and Prof. H. A. Keeley. Every other person who spoke concerning the matter at all said I was absolutely fair in the matter.

The Great Conflict
A Half Century Ago Today
JANUARY 24, 1862.

A large meeting in honor of the late General Zollicoffer, killed in the battle at Mill Springs, Ky., on January 19, was held in the St. Charles hotel, New Orleans. The following resolutions were adopted: "Resolved, That we have received the intelligence of the death of General Felix K. Zollicoffer, with feelings of the profoundest sorrow, and lament his untimely end as an irreparable loss to the cause for which he heroically gave his life. In private life, or in discharging his public duties, we always found him an incorruptible patriot. Cool and collected amidst troubles, he was unfaltering in the execution of his purpose. No man, since General Andrew Jackson, enjoyed so completely, the confidence and undivided esteem of the people of Tennessee.

"Resolved, That we mourn his death as a great public loss, which is only relieved by the recollection that he fell fighting bravely at the head of his column, against the invaders of his country."

Two blockade runners, endeavoring to run the blockade off Pass a l'Ouvre, at the mouth of the Mississippi, went ashore and were burned by their crews, who escaped. The schooners were laden with cotton.

Disease and Its Cure
By EDDY WOLFF.
MENINGITIS.

This disease, in the form we are now considering, is noticeable from the fact that it becomes epidemic generally during the winter and spring months. Children are most liable to be attacked, and the mortality is very high, ranging from about one-third to two-thirds of those affected.

An epidemic of meningitis has made its appearance in some of the southern and eastern states. Because this epidemic threatens to spread over the entire country, it is well to use every means possible to prevent contagion.

Although little is known of the manner in which meningitis is transmitted, it is known that the disease is caused by a germ. It is probable that children contract meningitis at school from contact with other playmates, and from using a common drinking cup.

The children should be put to bed in a well-ventilated room, should be given opportunity for plenty of exercise in the open air. All causes that tend to depress the spirits of the child seem to assist the disease in taking hold.

Upon the first sign of one of these symptoms, a doctor should be consulted.

FOR ROOSEVELT

(William Allen White of Kansas is out for Roosevelt—News Item.)

The shades of night were falling fast as though a Kansas village passed a man who bore "mid snow and ice A banner with the strange device—"

His brow was high his hair was thin, He had an ample double chin He spoke in an emphatic way And this is all he had to say

Try not that trick, an old man said, But William Allen shook his head; With mighty strength he flung aside The old standpatter and replied

"Oh stay, a maiden said, and rest That noble head upon this breast" But Bill White was a married man, And so he called back as he ran

A farmer called out from his ranch "Ware the La Follette avalanche!" Back through the shadows of the night Came this from William Allen White

In Wall Street when the morning broke, The brokers' broking, eddy spoke And through the rumble and the roar They seemed to mumble o'er and o'er

A noted German doctor declares that elevators in high buildings are a potent cause of heart disease and seriously affect mortality of American business men against the issue, it is an absolute falsehood. I passed along the street in front of the school building at 8:40 a. m. 20 minutes before the polls opened. I have not been nearer the polls than that since. At the time of the voting I was working with my social committee on a program for a social to be held at the church Friday evening by the Christian Endeavor. I will give $1,000 reward to anyone who will give me the name of a voter at the polls, or even saw me at the polls on that day, either before, during, or after the voting hours.

Again, I say the whole thing is a malicious lie and was done for a purpose and whoever gave the information knew when giving it they were lying.

Fallen Expectations
[Copyrighted, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey]

It would be ludicrous oftentimes were it not pitiful to not what a disastrous tumble some people get whose expectations soar far beyond the limit of judgment. The girl who has cast aside many offers of marriage from poor but reliable men in the hope, ultimately, of winning the wealthy bachelor who calls upon her now and then often finds her marriage to some girl he met only the month before. She finds expectation a poor poor to lean on.

talkative, but that isn't suit boys of my age. They want some one whom? Don't you think I am right in keeping my place and let boys run after the girls? A CONSTANT READER.

The girl who hopes to reform a miscreant lover after the marriage knot has been tied suffers such a cruel fall in her expectations, and they are smashed into such minute bits that she is never able to patch them together again, no matter how carefully she may endeavor to join the fragments of shattered hopes.

Indeed you are right

The girl who expects to inherit her aged uncle's fortune, having successfully talked him out of a score or more of love affairs with lonely widows who were childless, homeless, and sighing for some one to love and be loved by, suffers a desperate fall in her expectations when he passes away and it is discovered that he has adopted and left his much needed million to the 14 children of a widow whom he could not get.

MANY YEARS HER SENIOR.
"Dear Miss Libbey, I am 18 years of age and am deeply in love with a man 38 years of age. Now this gentleman knows his place at all times, and he has asked me to marry him. He is a poor man, getting $18 per week, and gives me $5 each week to put in the bank for him. We have managed to save up $100. Now, he thinks it is enough to marry on, and I would not hesitate either, only I think there is too much difference in our ages. My mother also objects to this in one way, and that is because he has no money. Miss Libbey, money is not the only thing in this world and I have told my mother that I have shuffled the cards, so I must play to win or lose. Please tell me what I am to do as I would not consent to marry anyone else, although I had a chance to marry a man 23 years of age who is worth $60,000 in real estate and business, but I did not love him."

The girl who dreams that fame will bring her the greatest happiness on earth and loses the sweetest years of her life in the expectation of grasping it gets the cruellest fall of all. She finds that expectations of future glory are as ethereal as dreams, and as futile to grasp.

Don't marry any man unless you love him.

The wife who expects to keep the love of the husband who is a good, bountiful provider by setting her table with products of the delicatessen store and bakery exclusively will fall in her expectation that his love for home will endure. She is one of the women who wonder why men leave home and are often caught dining at a good restaurant with the stenographer in the office, and see that their expectations must be well ballasted. If not, they are apt to fall.

HIS WAY NOT ATTRACTIVE.
"Dear Miss Libbey, I am a young man of 21, well educated but not very good looking, though some of my friends tell me that I have an attractive way. Up to the last few weeks I have been unable to find any young lady who would consent to have anything to do with me, but just recently I am being greatly blessed with two admirers. I love them both dearly and am unable to choose between them. In the effort to test their affection in order to see which one called the most for me, I asked them recently to kiss me. Neither one consents, saying that it is not right. Please help me out. I am bound to kiss one of them."

ANSWERS

I don't think your ways are attractive. I am thoroughly surprised at you. Do not attempt such rudeness.

"Dear Miss Libbey, I am very desperately in love with a young gentleman across the way. Have known him for about two years and I know that he loves me just as dearly as I love him. He is mainly an upright and character and in fact everything that a young lady could wish."

But my parents object to him. I feel as if it would just break my heart to give him up. And then, I naturally dislike to disregard my parents' wishes, too, so I am in a great predicament. Would you advise me to marry him in defiance of them, or must I give him up?

"Dear Miss Libbey, I attended a party recently where all the girls had to make a toast over the boys and act like a queen. I did not have a good time. Now, I am inclined to be quiet and could never run after the boys and make a fuss over them, therefore, I lose out, because the boys nowadays want the girls to run after them. Could you advise me on how to win the popularity of the boys, as I am considered good looking and am 19 years of age. I can converse on any subject and am

RARE TREAT WHEN GRAND OPERA SHOWS HERE, FEB. 8

Colorado Springs is to have a grand opera that which she is certain to appreciate. And W. H. Wright, general representative for Henry W. Savage, who paid a flying visit to the city yesterday in the interest of the Purcell grand opera, "The Girl of the Golden West" which is to be offered February 8 at the opera house in English.

It is a well-known fact that the Purcell grand opera is one of the most expensive productions of grand opera ever made in America outside of the house productions of the Metropolitan opera house, New York. It requires an entire special train of 10 cars to transport the immense production from city to city. The company consists of 124 people. There are five prima donnas, six tenors and five baritones, all of whom are alternated in regular order, so that the performance can be given five consecutive times without using one of the principals twice. The local chorus is extraordinary. It consists of trained voices selected from the musical colleges of America, and in point of tone and color adds much to the remarkable music drama, the last and greatest work of the world's most famous living composer.

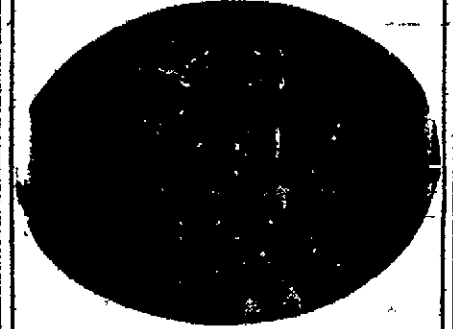

As always with his large musical productions Mr. Savage carries a special grand opera orchestra of 50 pieces. It is under the direction of Giorgio Tassinari, a friend and no other of the Purcell opera. Tassinari is a native of Milan and is a celebrated musician known in all parts of the world. It was he who discovered Tetrazzini, trained her, and was her conductor for two years. Polacco is the representative on this tour of the eminent Puccini. There are two other conductors of note with the organization—Simoni and Sodero.

Will Use Auto Truck to Haul Fire Engine

The horses will be disposed of in the future and the heavy fire engine will be hauled on "runs" by the automobile fire truck. This is an idea that Chief McCarrin secured at the national meeting of fire chiefs in Milwaukee and he is proceeding to put it into practical use. It is figured that a saving of $28 a month can be made by the city, together with the money from the sale of the horses. A special tongue connection to fasten the engine to the auto truck has been made.

For Flat Chested Women.

Nature did not intend women to be flat-chested and shapeless. Says Madame Marie to one of her correspondents in Woman's Journal, "and your scrawnyness is due to a starved condition of underlying tissues and no massaging offers no nourishment, satisfactory results cannot be attained. There is no question but the best results come from the 'vacuole' treatment. It is really surprising how quickly this treatment engorges the delicate tissues and rounds out the form. To be sure that you get the right treatment I will tell you how to make it yourself. Make a pint of syrup, using a cup and a half of sugar and enough water to make a pint, then add one ounce of true gailly, which you can get at any drug store. Take a tablespoonful before meals and you soon notice a wonderful change in your appearance. The true gailly costs you about $1.50 an ounce, but this will make a whole month's treatment, and the results will be so satisfactory you will be well repaid in the end."

FOUR "B" S NOW ARE AFTER EL PASO VOTES

J. N. Beatty of this city, a director and one of the largest stockholders in the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company, has come out for control of the company at the annual stockholders' meeting here March 11. S. S. Bernard for many years formerly president and general manager is also seeking the control while President A. T. Burris is a candidate for reelection, so that the three-cornered fight promises to be interesting.

In a circular letter issued to stockholders and asking for their proxies Beatty says that he has frequently conferred with President Burris regarding the directors to be elected for the ensuing year and that the latter insists that a majority of the board be named by himself and the interests controlling the Golden Rule mill, which has a contract to treat El Paso ore.

James T. Burns also a heavy stockholder has issued a letter to stockholders asking for proxies. He says that he is anxious to see a change in management and charges in competence on the part of Beatty. It is believed that Burns is backing Beatty although no definite statement to this effect is given out.

It is also known that S. S. Bernard although he has taken a stand for the control, would rather see Beatty in control than Burns and those in a position to know predict that Beatty Burns and Bernard will join forces against Burris, rather than see him re-elected.

The present directors of the company besides President Burris and Beatty, are E. J. Eaton and J. L. Alken also both of this city, and J. C. Helm, A. C. Gardner and A. J. Styr, all of Denver.

Dumping ashes, rubbish, etc. anywhere within the city limits is prohibited. Violators will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Wed in August, Won't Speak in September, Deserted in October

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. White were married here August 5, 1911 and he deserted her, she claims. October 25 she brought suit in the county court yesterday afternoon asking for divorce.

For one whole week in September she says in her petition White refused to speak to her. After that she says, he only spoke to her in insulting terms and treated her in a cruel manner. Mrs. White says she refused to buy her food or clothing. At all times, she claims, she did not have sufficient clothing to protect her from the cold. When she asked him to give her money he told her to go to work and earn it. She says she was too ill to work.

Girl Who Married at 13 Now Seeks Divorce

Goldie Henderson, aged 15 years, and who married Gold Henderson, then 17 years old, when she was only 13, has applied for a divorce in the county court. She alleged that her husband beat her and forced her to work in a laundry to support him. The couple were married here February 7, 1910, when the girl's mother and the boy's father gave their consent.

Judge Little, who took the case under advisement, characterized the child marriage as a disgrace to civilization. The girl is the youngest applicant for a divorce in the court records of this county.

The pronouncement of his parents and the connections of the two families are the reasons attributed to the refusal of Mrs. W. D. The police yesterday released the young man whose name is withheld. The officers say they had sufficient evidence to convict him.

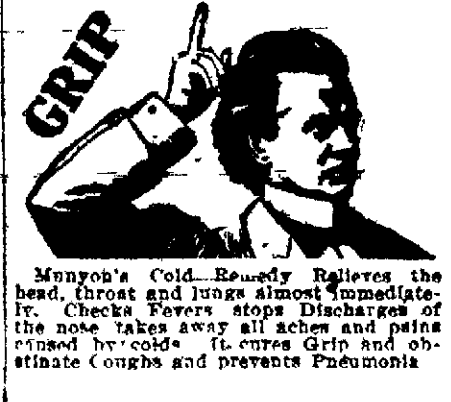

SUES PULLMAN COMPANY

For the alleged loss of jewelry valued at $1,165, and for $2,000 expenses incurred through the necessity of changing their route through the theft, J. C. Miller is suing the Pullman Car company at San Francisco. The Miller robbery occurred at Pueblo a few weeks ago, and the robbery was first reported here. The Millers were riding on a train en route from Los Angeles to Hamilton Tex. They got off the train at Pueblo, and, when they returned to their seats, they say, the money was gone.

Increase Weight Quickly

Simple Way for the Thin and Pale to Be Plump and Rosy.

Samosa can hardly be termed a medicine. It is in reality a flesh forming food. Taken before or after meals it mingles with the food you eat on ables it to assimilate and readily digest so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness.

After Samosa has been used a week or ten days a noticeable gain in weight is seen. The shallow complexion will become rosy, the sunken cheeks will have a ruddy glow the eyes will be bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic.

With the return of good health following the use of Samosa, emaciation is overcome, and the thin and scrawny are once more plump and rosy. Hefley Apicalurus Drug Co.'s customers have told them of the remarkable results following the use of Samosa the great flesh forming food and they are so thoroughly convinced of its reliability that they are selling it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it. You who are thin and in poor health cannot afford to let another day pass without getting a 50c box of Samosa on those terms.

Need Not Pay Interest on Stratton Legacies

In the county court yesterday Judge Little ruled that the Stratton estate shall not pay interest on the legacies of the late W. N. Stratton, and accordingly disallowed the claims of Mary Stratton Cobb Lillian Cobb Stratton and Mary Cobb Smith, totaling $13,555 as interest on their inheritances of $50,000 each. The interest demanded covered the period of delay in payment, caused in the settlement of the estate.

They expect to spend $50,000 and promise that the hotel will not resable its former self.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES

Byron Haines went to Denver yesterday, to be gone several days on business.

Mrs. M. McConnell and family, 311 Washington avenue, left yesterday for Denver, where they will make their home.

A. H. Ferril and W. B. Morse, who have been doing mining work above Woodland park for several weeks, returned to the city yesterday.

Plans for the establishment of a new town in Ramona addition, in case Colorado City becomes antileague territory, is causing considerable comment.

A large number of the citizens feel that such a plan could not be carried out successfully, since Ramona addition is a part of Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Boone, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. King and Mrs. A. C. Miller made a trip yesterday to Green Mountain Falls by automobile.

Miss Christina Daffner, 310 El Paso boulevard, is remodeling a six-room house, which has lately been removed to the Ramona addition, and will make the place her home.

In the effort to reduce the freight rates to Colorado City, L. Fieldman has started a subscription list with $25 for the purpose of sending someone to Washington to carry the claim before the commission.

Families living north of Colorado avenue have been having trouble lately by the stealing of milk and dairy products left on the steps in the early morning. A favorite trick of the thieves is to pour some of the milk from each of the bottles and so cause the milkman trouble for giving short measure.

John Edell, 86 years old, died yesterday morning at his home, 531 Main street. He had lived in Colorado City for the last 12 years. He has recently been caretaker of Bott park. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Joseph Edell of this city and Lawrence Edell of Wisconsin. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Joseph Murray and Edward Krantz, strangers, were arrested Monday evening by Dan Colbert, patrolman, on a charge of entering the room of Joe McNulty for the purpose of robbery. The men were followed by Byron Haines, who was notified by McNulty of the breaking in of the door. Mr.

MR. CARSON PASTOR OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The Rev. Robert P. Carson, mentioned in The Gazette yesterday in reference to the bond election at Manitou, is pastor of the Congregational church of that town, and not of the Episcopal church, as stated.

The Rev. C. H. Remington, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Manitou, will be formally installed next month by Bishop Charles S. Olmsted. Mr. Remington about four years ago assisted the Rev. Henry Rutgers Romsen, then rector of Grace church, this city.

A. B. RUSSELL WEDS MISS EDNA S. CATE

Allen B. Russell, advertising manager of Hubbard & Co., and Miss Edna S. Cate of Rich Hill, Mo., were married at the home of the bride's parents Tuesday, January 16. They returned to this city last Saturday and are now located in their home in Stratton park. Mrs. Russell is a sister of Mrs. A. W. Hagler, 1814 North Cascade. Mr. Russell is a son of Dr. Lida B. Russell of Denver.

Haines found one of the men waiting in the hallway and suspected that he was the one who forced the door. Nothing was taken from the room. The suspects were lodged in the county jail to await a hearing.

INDIGESTION AND STOMACH MISERY ENDED

Relief in Five Minutes Awaited Every Man or Woman Who Suffers From a Bad Stomach.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapensin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

But what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, belching, gas on stomach, heartburn, headaches from stomach, nausea, bad breath, water brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries, should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapensin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no indigestion or sleepless nights or headaches or stomach misery. At the next day, and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh. Pape's Diapensin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia. There is nothing better for gas on the stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.

last night, on his work among the people of Labrador. He delivered an excellent lecture, and the views were exceptionally good.

Dr. Grenfell, who is both a missionary and a physician, has established hospitals, schools and churches in Labrador and is doing more good among the natives of that country than probably any other man. He is aided by many undergraduates from leading universities of this country and nurses who voluntarily give up their lives to this great work. The hospitals are used also as hotels, all the people who travel in that region making use of them. Dr. Grenfell says they are not the palaces for pain such as one sees in great cities, but are humble wood buildings, where a qualified doctor and a trained nurse reside, where, besides their own rooms, they have a dozen beds for sick people, a convalescent room, an operating cases are told us everywhere, he writes. "Whether we see the individual rush to his business or devour his lunch, see the 'overflow' of useless movements from the chewing of gum to the ceaseless motion of the rocking chair, or watch the hustling and pushing of the public life, and hasty passing from one interest to another everything suggests a nervous condition of society."

"We need vacations and excursions, the rest of country life and frequent changes more than any previous generation. Our nerve energy is so run down that we can get refreshment only by taking amusements. The thrills of our acquaintances have been fastidious, and nervous civilization is the fashion for men and women alike. "Every new invention and every discovery has hastened the whole rhythm of life."

"And with the haste has come the noise. The metropolitan who has to think while the telephone rings and the elevated roars and the typewriter hammers must be a wreck before he is through with his work. "We are forced to automobile through life, and the fugitive impressions of the world through which we are racing must bewilder us and make us dizzy. There is no longer any repose or any relief. The nervousness of our time comes with the necessity of a natural effect."

Then Professor Munsterberg draws a deep breath, squares his broad German shoulders and remarks calmly: "It is an illusion that our time is more nervous than earlier periods. It is an illusion that the material and social conditions under which we live are favorable to nervous diseases. It is an illusion that the highly praised, roadways would really serve the purpose for the sake of making our life simpler. The telephone at our desk and the elevator in our hall save us trouble. Instead of a rough, rocky road, we move along on a smooth asphalt street, over which there is really no difficulty in proceeding. We have become insensitive by adaptation to our tumultuous surroundings. Above all our public life and our welfare is less threatened by dangers and sudden changes—the chief source of nervous shocks. Excitement and public fear have been turned down. Conflicts are less embittered. Our life is less sentimental and more realistic and business like."

"This is no joke for being especially nervous," the professor repeats. "Our poor forefathers had to go through much nerve-irritation, but our life is smooth. The technical mechanism of our life has become more complex just for the sake of making our life itself simpler. The telephone at our desk and the elevator in our hall save us trouble. Instead of a rough, rocky road, we move along on a smooth asphalt street, over which there is really no difficulty in proceeding. We have become insensitive by adaptation to our tumultuous surroundings. Above all our public life and our welfare is less threatened by dangers and sudden changes—the chief source of nervous shocks. Excitement and public fear have been turned down. Conflicts are less embittered. Our life is less sentimental and more realistic and business like."

What Do You Think of This?

This table shows the tariff on raw sugar compared with the tariff on some other things:

Diamonds,	10 per cent.
Paintings,	15 "
Automobiles,	45 "
Fur,	50 "
Champagne,	70 "
Sugar,	78.87 "

What do you think of that? Of which do you buy the most: sugar or diamonds? The tariff on sugar does not help American sugar-beet growers. They get no more for their beets than is paid to European beet growers. The tariff on sugar does add about $150,000,000 a year to the food cost of American families. Why should there be a sugar tariff eight times greater than a diamond tariff? Why should there be a sugar tariff at all? Read James Creelman's story, "The Plot against Sugar," in Pearson's Magazine for February. You'll learn some things you ought to know.

O. C. Barber, "The Match King," explains to a dollar, what present railroad capitalization means to your annual expense, in the same magazine. Mr. Barber is a big business man. His companies ship about 200,000 carloads of freight a year. He knows about railroads, and he tells the truth about their stock selling methods. Another article considers William Randolph Hearst as a presidential possibility. What do you think of Mr. Hearst, and the things he has done for which other people are getting credit? Read this article before you answer that. The story of The Four Hundred—the wonderful story of "high society" and the people in it, is continued. Also the great mystery novel, by Anthony Paulding, and seven complete stories.

SEATS STILLING FOR "THE THIRD DEGREE"

Seats go on sale at the Opera house box office today for the presentation of Charles Klein's late play, "The Third Degree," at the Opera house next Friday evening, January 26, with a cast of sterling players of acknowledged reputation, which includes Franklin Gale, Minnie Radcliffe, Charles Burnham, Nell Barrett, Harry Foreman, Kenneth Stuart, Wesley Todd, and others of note, should attract unusual attention. Mr. Klein has in his play written an even more vivid contribution to dramatic literature than he did in "The Lion and the Mouse." The scenes are laid in New York and deal with a certain condition of social life in which society leaders, both male and female, are the central figures. In working out the story, the author attacks the method used to pick out those entitled to social preferment, the distinction accorded only by heritage and birth. This play marks a step forward in the evolution of the drama, the tendency of which is to deal with conditions that exist and which, by reason of the public apathy, are allowed to continue. Playgoers will find much to interest them in "The Third Degree," and undoubtedly it will mark an epoch in the theatrical history of this city. Prices, $1.50, $1.00, 75c and 50c.

PUCCHINI'S OPERA, "THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST"

The Henry W. Savage production of Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West," in English, which is announced for presentation here in the near future, is promised to be the most vast and elaborate presentation of grand opera ever given by this famous producer. The characters in the opera will be portrayed by five casts of principal artists, all capable of singing and acting the exacting roles. The orchestra will be under the direction of Signor Polacco, who conducted the opera in Milan and Rome during its performances in Italy. Scarcely it will be a production of unusual splendor.

VAUDEVILLE AT LYRIC TOMORROW

In response to the insistent demand of theatergoers of Colorado Springs for a chance to see high-class vaudeville, the Lyric theater will present a series of first rate bills of the best acts obtainable, commencing tomorrow evening. Three performances will be given daily—matinees at 2:30 and evenings at 7:30 to 9. A four-piece orchestra, the pick of Colorado Springs musical talent, will furnish the music. Two reels of the best motion pictures obtainable will be shown at each performance. The Lyric theater was especially built for vaudeville, and is eminently suited for its presentation. The auditorium is cozy and comfortable, there being no posts or pillars, every seat is a good one. It is expected that the opening performance will be a gala event. Many seats are now being reserved for Thursday evening. For the present, the prices will be only 10 cents for matinees and 10 and 20 cents for evenings, making the Lyric certainly the bargain show place of the city. Today, and tomorrow afternoon, bills of the latest productions of the film makers will be shown. Admission five cents.

SCHUMANN-HEINK MAY GIVE SECOND RECITAL HERE

Wilfred R. Willis, president of the Colorado Springs Musical Club, is in Denver today to see what arrangements can be made for Madame Schumann-Heink to give a second recital here. Several hundred people have been turned away, and it is with the idea of accommodating these people that the second concert is proposed.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT THE ODEON TODAY

In addition to the usual splendid picture program today, the Colorado Springs High School Glee club of 29 trained voices and the High School quartet will sing between reels, the quartet singing between reels in the afternoon and the Glee club and quartet alternating in the evening. Usual admission, 5c.

Imagination, More Than Real Ills, Is Troubling People

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—"Society today, and especially the social body of America, imagines itself to be the pitiable victim of a miserable disease, general nervousness. It is a dogma of our generation that our whole nervous makeup has become worse; that nervous troubles are on the increase; that our entire social life has become neurasthenic, and that we must do our utmost to protect our nerve energies against the tiredness and exhaustion which have become the habitual fate. Nevertheless, I do not hesitate to claim that this story is imaginative from beginning to end."

Prof. Hugo Munsterberg, Harvard's famous psychologist, broaches this distinctly cheering conclusion in his recently published book, "American Problems." Prof. Munsterberg takes as the first of these problems, "the fear of nerves," a fear which he is convinced is merely "fanciful."

"The symptoms of the imagined dis-

YOUNG PLAYERS FOOLISH TO JOIN NEW OUTLAW CIRCUIT

By J. ED. GRILLO.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—If the several proposed outlaw leagues really get down to business it may afford an opportunity for some of the players who are sliding to reap a final harvest. Players who have seen their best days and are just hanging on because of their reputations would be foolish not to accept long-term contracts at good figures from the outlaws, providing they are assured of their money. Such players are not to be blamed for taking a chance with promoters of the new leagues, for when their days are over in major league baseball they will be forced to accept a substantial cut in salary or drop out of the game. But the trouble is that these outlaw leagues are more or less of a myth. Even if they should start the season they will be of a low minor league grade and will not furnish opposition to the big leagues. Young ball players who have a future would be foolish to tie themselves up with an outlaw organization, but some of the old fellows who are at the end of their string could not be blamed for assuring themselves of a large salary for a few years more.

Notwithstanding the fact that Jack Johnson objects to Jim Flynn meeting Al Falzer in New York that match is said to have been clinched for February 15. This would mean that the Flynn-Johnson fight will be declared off, for it is not likely that Johnson will weaken on the stand he has taken. Incidentally, it is no sure thing that Flynn can beat Falzer, in which event Flynn would no longer be entitled to a go with the champion. It is very plain that the promoters of the game in New York are responsible for the barring of the colored champion, Johnson, having demanded exorbitant

MAROON ALUMNI TO BACK COACH STAGG

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—University of Chicago alumni have come to the defense of Coach Stagg's position against summer baseball with a battery of arguments favoring the present amateur rules. These were published in the current number of the university magazine, "The Quad," protest against letting down the professional bars is voiced in an article by William Scott Bond, '37, who has been conducting an investigation into the amateur standing of "C" athletes.

"Most of us believe that a rule against summer baseball can be enforced if it is backed up by university spirit and the sincere support of the whole university," by the students as well as by the university itself," he asserts. "That conditions are bad in some cases is an argument for the present rule rather than against it."

"No one seriously denies that playing professional baseball and the associations which go with it exercise a bad influence on a college student, however harmless they may be in the future. This being so, how is the university to show its disapproval of such a course? There is only one way, and that is by barring professionals from the university teams."

"It should be said, too, that if professionalism is permitted in baseball, by all the arguments used it should be permitted in track athletics and football, and with this principle logically extended, should we not have an admirable condition of affairs? Let us hope the universities of the conference upon consideration will realize their responsibilities and refuse to take the step backward."

ROBBINS TAKES FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE RACE

The Robbins team went into first place last night in the City Indoor Baseball league race, by beating the Holy Name troop of ball tossers. The one-sided score of 20 to 3 was largely responsible to the showing of Haas, the Holy Name twirler, who has been doing such player work since the season opened. Last night it was plain to be seen that he was out of condition. On the other hand, Huber twirled a fine game for the Robbins team.

H. WOLVERTON PLANS DEAL IN CATCHERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—We will have one of the best, if not the best, catching staff in the American league next summer," said Manager Harry Wolverton at the Highlanders' headquarters today. "I have a deal under way that will give us one of the best receivers in the league. The man I have in mind is a first-class catcher, good hitter, and has experience in the big leagues."

The cheerful Optimist is Wolverton has been dubbed, refused to say anything else about the deal, though the general belief in baseball circles is that Wolverton will procure one of Washington's three backstops. Whether it will be Street, Amazin or Henry is not known, but one of the trio seems to be scheduled for a Manhattan berth next season.

It has been known for some time that negotiations have been under way between Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Nationals, and the New York club. Griffith has three good catchers, where he could get along on two, while his club is very weak in several infield positions, notably third and first base. The man that Washington will probably get is an infielder, and it has been known for some time that Griffith has been keen on Jack Knight.

It was announced today that the Highlanders would stop at the Imperial hotel while in Atlanta. The Imperial is a twentieth century structure, and was only opened a few months ago. It is located in a fine section of the city, and is only 30 minutes' walk from the ball grounds. The training schedule of the Klitties' rookery squad was given out yesterday.

The training schedule of the Yankees was announced yesterday. The following games will be played: March 20, Petersburg, Va.; April 1, Richmond, Va.; April 2, 3, Petersburg, Va.; April 4, 5, Norfolk; April 11, Portsmouth; April 13, Newport News, Va.

Chester Hoff, the Klitties' young southpaw, had a convalesce with Manager Wolverton yesterday, and has the honor of being the first 1912 Highlander to affix his John Hancock to a contract. Jack Knight was another visitor at Hilltop headquarters.

"BIG JOE" WITHEROW TO LEAVE COLLEGE SOON

"Big Joe" Witherow, who as center on the Colorado college eleven the last two years has won places on the all Rocky mountain team during that time, will leave school at the close of this semester. He says he will not return next year to the Tigers' fold, but expects to enter school at some other place, probably Chicago university.

Witherow is going to Longmont, his home town, where he will take up a law course. He expects to take a special course in pharmacy. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Delta fraternity and one of the most popular young men at the school.

CY RIGLER HOPES TO BECOME LAWYER

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Cy Rigler, the National league umpire, hopes to be a regular lawyer some day. With this in view he is pursuing the law course at the University of Virginia. "If I discover that I can't get the job as a lawyer I'll go back to umpiring," is the way Rigler views the situation.

Rigler was working a series with the Giants last summer. It was one of the most important games of the season. Close and regular plays were being made with unorthodox results. A goodly proportion of the rulings were being disputed against the Giants. McGraw accepted the decision without a blink for a time. Finally Rigler decided a play against the Giants that looked wrong to McGraw. Rushing over to Rigler, he yelled:

"Why is the man out?"

"Because I said so," answered Rigler.

"The same old reason," said McGraw, "because I said so. Why don't you brainy umpires think up some other excuse?"

"We would, only we fear it might hurt the brains of some of you managers," answered Rigler.

"So you expect to be a lawyer some day," said McGraw.

"That's right," said Rigler.

"Well, when you happen out your strings," said McGraw, "I'm going to supply for a seat on the supreme court bench."

Miss Harriet Quimby, the fearless woman aviator, who has decided that it is much safer to travel in an airplane than it is on railroads. While on her way to Chicago, Miss Quimby was in a wreck of the Twentieth Century limited in which 10 persons were injured. "I have never been in a real train wreck before," said Miss Quimby, "speaking of her experiences, and I have never had a serious accident in my monoplane, but if it were common for me to participate in one of the other, I think I'd rather take a chance in my airship."

YALE HAS ANNOUNCED FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—Yale drops two week teams—New York university and Virginia Polytechnic—and substitutes for them: Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson in her football schedule for next season. Probably Arthur Howe will be appointed coach by Captain Spalding.

The following is the schedule: Sept. 25, Wesleyan; Sept. 28, Holy Cross; Oct. 5, Syracuse; Oct. 12, Lafayette, all at New Haven; Oct. 19, West Point at West Point; Oct. 26, Washington and Jefferson; Nov. 2, Colgate; Nov. 9, Brown, all at New Haven; Nov. 16, Princeton at Princeton; Nov. 23, Harvard at New Haven.

FORMER MAJORS TO RECEIVE TRIAL AS CHICAGO REGULARS

By IRVING VAUGHAN.
CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Ex-major league players will have the "come-back" opportunity with Chicago's club this coming season. Moreover, the two veterans slated for return to big company after a brief sojourn with the little fellows may find regular berths with the most side contingent. The prodigals who apparently were turned back to the minors before their time are Eddie Leanos, formerly with Brooklyn, and George Schiel, ex-minor.

Both of these athletes are now members of the club squad, and President C. Webb Murphy announced yesterday that it is his intention to tender contracts and afford them thorough try-outs at their respective positions during the spring training trip. Leanos will be remembered as the scrappy third-sacker of the Dodge band in last season, when he was turned loose to do a turn with the Louisville club. He was purchased from the Chicago Cubs.

Schiel was a victim of circumstances and but for a whim of fate he might still be drawing the monthly stipend from the New York National League club. His release was the result of sickness, which necessitated a long rest just after the spring training camp in 1911, and as there was no prospect of his immediate recovery, McGraw deemed it fit to drop him, and he was created a free agent. While in New York attending the league meeting, Murphy was tipped off regarding the former Giant, and steps were taken to get him in line.

He communicated with the backstop, a favorable reply has been received, and Schiel says for a certainty that his condition is as good as ever. While he has agreed he has not formally signed a contract, as the club roster of 35 men cannot be increased under the league rules, so Schiel will be forced to hold his peace with the powers that be for a few days from the present list. This same rule prevents the promulgation of the contract of Harry Low Smith, the Indian youth whom Manager Charles Schiel secured recently at Glendora, Cal.

The fact that Murphy admits he is considering the dropping of a few surplus athletes gives room for guess-work as to who the men will be. A report was current recently that outfielders had been asked on Tom Needham and Ed Kelly. Bransfield, and if the former is turned over to another club it is practically a certainty that Schiel will be retained as second string outfielder to Archer Bransfield was recalled last September from the Phillies. As a first baseman there is reason to believe that he will be of little value to the Chicago Cubs. Since Leanos and Schiel's Zimmermann stood up for the berth.

Leanos, to become a regular outfielder of the big company position will have to displace Jimmy Doyle. This youngster was so successful with Leanos at Louisville, did not fare any too well last season and he was benched several times by Chance. His erratic work consisted principally of wild heaves to first base, this being the result of an injury which he received to a finger on his throwing arm in an exhibition game last spring. Of course, Doyle is liable to come back this spring and prove a whirlwind, but only time will show whether he has steadied down. Leanos hit .331 for the Night Riders, and being only 27 years of age his career is far from an end.

RACE RESULTS

MUARE, Jan. 23.—Bourbon Beau, at 10 to 1, proved a big surprise when he won the handicap seven-furlongs event at Muare today. The stewards today warned Jockey E. Jockey Parker was set down for the remainder of the meeting for causing Braxton to fall.

POPULAR DECISION IS GIVEN JACK DENNING

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Jack Denning of this city and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul fought 10 rounds here tonight, and the consensus of opinion was that Denning won on all points. Up to the seventh round Gibbons seemed unable to do anything, but he showed far better advantage in the last four sessions.

SPORTING NOTES

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 23.—Earl Pickering, the University of Minnesota athlete, has signed to pitch for the Terre Haute Central League club. Pickering was a football star last fall, but was barred from the Minnesota Wisconsin game by Wisconsin filing charges that he had played professional ball in the summer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—President Charles W. Murphy of the Cubs announced last night that he had received the signed contracts of Pitchers Harrington and Dessen, both recruits. Harrington comes from the New England league and Dessen from Salt Lake.

FIND FAMILY OF THREE DEAD

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 23.—William H. McVey, his wife and baby, were found dead today at Taylorville, in a hotel where they lived in squalor. The screams of a stepdaughter, Gertrude Phelps, 20 years old, attracted the attention of neighbors who called the police. McVey was found on the floor and his wife and baby in bed, their bodies cold. The girl was hysterical and so far has been unable to throw any light on the deaths. No marks of violence are visible on any of the bodies and only discolored stains about the mother furnish a theory for the deaths. The McVey family had been dependent on charity for weeks.

"RUBE" WALTERS MAY BE SECOND TY COBB

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Well, say, here's a ball player, a "phenom" from Phenomville. He wants to play with the Giants, and maybe he will. And then, again, maybe he will be the successor to Harry Faust as mascot and goat. This player is Rube Walters and he has modestly flashed the tidings about himself to Manager McGraw yesterday and the Giant manager immediately set the wires to Canada on fire in his haste to corral the rival of Home Run Baker and Ty Cobb before any other major league team grabs him.

Is he as good a batter as Cobb? He's better. Can he sprint the bases? He's better. Just imagine, Walters pumped the pellet last season for .454. Yesir, and what's more he made 14 home runs, 21 three-baggers and 19 doubles. Singlet? He made so many that he doesn't think it necessary to even mention them.

He played in the Sarnia City league and the only reason that he didn't crowd Hans Wagner out of his job with the Pirates was because on the day that Billy Murray, the Pittsburgh scout, was in Sarnia, Rube was in bed and Murray missed him. Can you beat that for tough luck for Pittsburgh? When Manager Fred Clarke sees Rube in a Giant uniform breaking down the stockades around the National league stadium his heart will ache.

REPORT ON U. S. STEEL CO. FITS VIEWS OF STANLEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The suggestion made by Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith in his report on the United States Steel corporation that the corporation and its railroad subsidiaries should be segregated, coincides with the view of Chairman Stanley and other members of the house steel trust investigating committee.

The committee for many months has been conducting a thorough investigation into the steel corporation's railroad holdings and the method of operating their transportation facilities.

An exposition of its discoveries is to be made within a few weeks.

Scores of witnesses still are to be summoned, many of them independent shippers and manufacturers to show that by controlling ore transportation facilities from the Great Lakes to Pittsburgh and in the Birmingham district the corporation holds tremendous advantage over competitors.

The commissioner of corporations report that the steel concern makes excessive profit on its ore holdings is another feature which the house committee is planning to delve into thoroughly.

President Farrell continued his testimony before the committee today.

WIFE-SLAYER IN PRISON

STERLING, Ill., Jan. 22.—Dr. Harry Elgin Webster, who yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his bigamous wife, Bessie Kent Webster, was taken to the Joliet prison today. Webster's parents begged Sheriff Delaney to delay the transfer as long as possible. This angered the convicted prisoner.

"I want to go to prison as soon as possible," he said.

Flies are quite troublesome in Japan during the summer months and here, as well as elsewhere in the far east, various native devices are used for capturing them. A fly trap commonly used is made of an ordinary bottle with an opening into which the fly passes and finds it impossible to escape. Water, vinegar or sake is placed in the bottom of the bottle to drown or suffocate the fly.

About the Electric Vibrator

Search for the source of your trouble, whether it be falling hair, stomach complaint, rheumatism or something else, and you will probably find faulty, imperfect circulation at the bottom of it. Most any doctor will tell you so.

Correct that circulation. Get your blood to flowing freely and evenly, and you are well, cured, happy—competent and ready for work or play.

That's both common sense and the scientific solution.

The Electric Vibrator will do that thing. We know it will. We can prove it—YOU can prove it. "Try it before you buy it."

Let us explain one to you today.
